Critical Shortage In Housing Predicted by Low

(From Times News Services)

Social Credit put on its biggest political rally of the federal campaign in Vancouver Monday night, and 2,500 persons filled Georgia Auditorium to hear National Leader Solon Low and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

In the last major address of his three-day B.C. tour, Mr. Low said that next winter the housing shortage brought on by the federal government's tight money policies will bring about "the most critical social problem that this country has ever faced."

Premier Bennett spoke mostly on Columbia River power and charged that the federal offer of financial aid for public development was a "red herring." (At a press conference in Victoria earlier in the day Mr. Bennett said he was prepared to accept outright grants or long-term, low-interest loans from Ottawa.)

throughout his talk, with his usual enthusiasm.

When Mr. Bennett said the provincial government was giving some $2,000,000 to Vancouver residents under its home-owners' dividend, a heckler shouted: "Where did you get the money?"

The premier replied: "That is not the question. The question is, where did the money go before we came to power?"

Mr. Low was interrupted less often by catcalls. He was given fairly enthusiastic applause at some points in his address and afterward about half of those present gave him a standing ovation.

Warned of Worker Shortage

The Social Credit leader said that in the fall of 1955 industrialists across Canada warned that the development program planned for the following year would be hamstrung by a worker shortage unless something effective was done.

Yet, he said, in 1956 the total number of migrants arriving in Canada "was about equal to the average of the five previous years."

He asked: "What hope was there that without a renewed and greater effort the manpower problem, could be solved?"

"Remember, too, that last year's figure of new Canadian arrivals was achieved only because of a last-minute rush of Hungarian refugees which was completely unplanned and unprovided for."

Mr. Low said that the minister of immigration now is

SUN WILL REMAIN; MONDAY HOTTEST DAY

Ol' Sol, who has been beaming at Victoria the past few days, will continue his warm golden smile at least another 24 hours.

Stars will glow tonight and Wednesday temperatures will range between 48 and 68 degrees.

Monday was the hottest this year—71 degrees at 1.30 p.m.

Vancouver Island's most torrid place was Nanaimo where a top temperature of 75 degrees was recorded at Cassidy Airport.

Khrushchev Unveils Big Russ Shakeup

Revolutionary Industry Revision Takes Power From Kremlin Bureaucrats

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev today proposed the early abolition of more than 20 Soviet ministries in Moscow as part of a plan to revolutionize Soviet production and management.

The plan represents the biggest revision of Soviet economy since Stalin collectivized the farms nearly 30 years ago.

In a speech before a joint session of both chambers of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet (parliament) the Communist party first secretary outlined the new economic decentralization plan which will produce the biggest economic shakeup in Russia since the death of Lenin in 1924.

IMMEDIATELY

The 20 ministries concerned represent more than one-third of all Soviet industrial administrations centred in Moscow. Khrushchev said the reorganization of management should not be dragged out. It should be effected by the end of next month.

Khrushchev said the plan provides for setting up 92 national economic councils, which would assume the major function of planning and co-ordinating output. The party leader also called for an intensified war against bureaucracy.

UNPRECEDENTED

The rapid growth of Soviet industry and "unprecedented scope of construction," he said, make indispensable the further improvement of management methods.

"But we must not be naive," Khrushchev added. "We must bear in mind that reorganization by itself does not kill bureaucracy as such, the bureaucrats will not disappear."

"That is why we must not relax but strongly intensify the struggle against all kinds of bureaucratic institutions."

AFFECTS 40 MILLIONS

If instituted, the plan will affect some 300,000 state enterprises and 40,000,000 workers. It is based on Russia's long-range design to outstrip the United States in per capita production in an "historically short period."

Khrushchev's proposals call for a swing away from "Stalinist" centralization in which control of production was concentrated in the hands of powerful policy-making Moscow ministries whose directives were carried out by a bureaucratic network in the 15 republics forming the Soviet Union.

Subsequent actions by Mr. Pearson at the United Nations and elsewhere, he went on, confirm that Canada's sole concern is to prevent any weakening of Commonwealth ties.

Dr. Fairley said he was present in the House during the debate, and it was made clear, both by Mr. St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson "that at no time did Canada ever suggest withdrawal from the Commonwealth, but that the policy of Canada has consistently been to hold the Commonwealth together."

First of Protest Meetings Decides On Ultimatum Move

A provincial-wide protest by B.C. government employees may result in strike action if they do not get satisfaction from the government this month on their request for higher wages.

More than 1,000 members of the B.C. Government Employees' Association Monday night at Vancouver voted to serve an ultimatum on the government calling for a satisfactory answer to wage increase requests by the end of May.

If the answer is not forthcoming, they will take a secret ballot of all employees on whether they wish to strike.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, whose department controls provincial civil servants, today declined comment.

Interest Grows in Island Meeting

He added that as many as 500 Vancouver Island members will discuss the secret ballot at a protest meeting in Nanaimo next Friday at 8 p.m.

"Yesterday we expected a total of 300 members. Today interest has boiled up to the point where some 500 wish to attend from all parts of the Island."

"We shall provide free bus transportation for all Victoria members who want to go."

"Provincial employees are really fed up because the MLAs and the cabinet voted themselves more money this year although the cabinet refused to give raises to government employees."

Attending the Nanaimo meeting next Friday will be delegates from Victoria, Courtenay, Alberni, Duncan and Nanaimo.

IN SUPREME COURT

B.C.'s Remarriage Ban Challenged

OTTAWA (CP)—Counsel for British Columbia today asked the Supreme Court of Canada to uphold a two-month ban on remarriage following a divorce in the province.

The provincial ban prohibits either party in a divorce from remarrying within the 60-day period during which an appeal against the divorce decree can be launched.

The lower courts in B.C. have declared the prohibition invalid on the ground the provincial legislature may only pass laws governing the solemnization of marriage.

The appeal deals with the case of Mrs. Emmy Gudrun Densmore of Vancouver, who claims her marriage to Andrew William Densmore, performed in Edmonton, Jan. 19, 1949, is valid. The marriage was performed within two months of her divorce in Cranbrook, B.C., from Albert Robert Douglas Hellens, Nov. 27, 1948.

Mrs. Densmore asked the B.C. Supreme Court to declare her marriage invalid but her case was dismissed, a decision that was upheld in a 3-to-2 decision by the B.C. Court of Appeal.

FROM ENGLISH LAW

W. G. Burke-Robertson of Ottawa, counsel for the attorney-general of B.C., argued that the prohibition stems from the English Divorce Act of 1857 which was carried forward in B.C. through a provision of the constitution.

However, the prohibition was inactive, Mr. Burke-Robertson said, until 1937 when Parliament gave the B.C. Court of Appeal power to hear divorce appeals.

He argued that a law adopted by the provincial legislature in 1888 implied that if the prohibition stems from old English divorce laws it is constitutional. But if it depends on provincial legislation it is invalid and outside the powers of the legislature.

The case is continuing.

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—A top-priority program to usher in the atomic age in Europe and so end dependence on Middle East oil was submitted today to the six "Euratom" countries.

The report, entitled A Target for Euratom, was drawn up at the request of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands—the countries which are planning to link up in a European atomic energy pool with United States, Canadian and British help.

The report, written by Louis Warmand of France, Franz Etzel of West Germany and Francesco Giordani of Italy, sets a target of 15,000,000 kilowatts of nuclear power for the next 10 years.

It says this "ambitious" program will call for immediate action, and for co-operation with Britain, America and Canada.

It warns that if industry in the Euratom countries does not embark on a big-scale atomic program now, it will soon be unable to face competition, and imports of other energy sources, mostly Middle East oil, will rise to "intolerable heights."

There is no limit to Ottawa's help towards building whatever is agreed upon, but we are going to have some say in the matter."

In his first election campaign speech in the Coast-Capilano constituency where he is seeking re-election, Mr. Sinclair said the federal government would not hand over such a large sum of money—a figure of $300,000,000 has been mentioned—without having something to say about how it would be handled.

He mentioned the possibility that Ottawa would consider "doing some of the work ourselves" if B.C. approves.

In his original statement in Vancouver on March 25, when he outlined the federal offer, Mr. Sinclair said:

"Such assistance is not indirect, by way of subsidies, grants or guarantee of bonds, but by direct participation either in Crown companies, or federal Crown companies doing specific sections of the development."

BUY OUT
"Since this project will unquestionably be self-liquidating, the provincial government can over the years buy out the federal government's interests in the usual way."

In disclosing at a press conference Monday that B.C. was ready to accept "substantial" outright grants or loans, the premier would not say whether that meant the provincial government had decided on public development of the Columbia.

"You can surmise what you like," he told reporters.

Mr. Bennett spoke further on the issue at a Social Credit rally in Vancouver Monday night.

He accused the federal government of using a "political dodge" in its offer.

Officially Ottawa has not offered to help in developing the Columbia, he said. There had not been a "single letter" to his office from Prime Minister St. Laurent or any other federal minister.

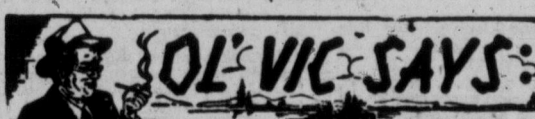

Meanwhile, CCF Leader Robert Strachan claimed that the premier's "pride and prejudice got the better of him."

"If he were really interested in public development of the Columbia he would have made arrangements to call on the prime minister while he was here."

DOUBTFUL
Mr. Strachan was doubtful of the premier's statement he was prepared to accept some form of federal aid.

"He (Bennett) still won't say whether he favors public power," the Opposition leader said.

"He says he'd like federal assistance, but leaves up in the air the question of public versus private power. All this knowing full well the federal offer is tied to development of the Columbia as a public power project."

Apparently th' civil service wants it known they ain't servile savants.

With Mister Khrushchev's reshuffle o' th' economic system, a lot o' Moscow home base players are goin' t' find themselves out in th' field—left field, naturally.

Far's I kin see, th' Socreds want t' git enuff men in there so's they kin force another election. Whut's wrong with th' one we got?

Mr. Pearson attended the NATO council meeting in Bonn last week. He conferred with officials of his department for two days in London. The five-nation disarmament sub-committee, of which Canada is a member, is meeting in London.

due, more intensive immigration program, while on the other hand this same federal government with its 'tight money' policy has reduced the construction of homes in Canada to less than 50 per cent of last year's figure—and thrown a great many people out of work in doing so.

Premier Bennett criticized the campaign tactics used by Prime Minister St. Laurent on Vancouver Island over the weekend, saying: "The people are intelligent. They don't want baby kissing everywhere. They want public men to discuss public business."

He said Canadians "are not going to bite for the taffy that the Liberals are offering them," and "a government whose policy is to check prosperity has no right to exist in Canada."

Referring to what he called the "measly" $6 increase in old age pensions Mr. Bennett said: "Any government that would do that should be thrown out of office."

The premier said that early in its tenure of office the Social Credit government asked the federal administration to co-operate in developing B.C.'s natural resources and in extending the PGE northward.

"We received no co-operation at all."

Prior to the present federal election campaign Resources Minister Lesage "would not say a word" about helping B.C. develop the Columbia. Now the Liberals were making promises.

Mr. Low was made an honorary chief of the Burrard Indian tribe at the Vancouver rally.

The honor was bestowed by Tes-Wan-Nough, chief of the Burrard nation, after Mr. Low had been escorted into the hall by about a dozen Burrards, in full Indian dress and war paint, to the beat of drums and native chants.

Mr. Low was given the tribal name of "Big Brother."

A high point of the installation came when Mr. Low took part in the Indians' ritual thanksgiving dance while his "subjects" beat tom-toms and chanted and a group of comely Indian maidens smiled approvingly.

"Big Brother" passed up a chance to kiss the maidens on grounds, he was too puffed after the dance. But he noted: "Mr. St. Laurent goes around kissing babies—look what he's missing."

At a Social Credit banquet in Victoria at noon Monday, Mr. Low predicted the CCF party will "die a natural death within a very short time."

"Within 10 years you will find a real two-party system of government, with Social Credit on one side and all the others on the other side," Mr. Low said.

"Then when the people get tired of one they can turn to the alternative—something they haven't been able to do up to now because both parties (Liberals and Conservatives) have the same policies."

Pensioners Below Poverty Borderline

The national Socred leader said the federal government had failed to "acknowledge the fact that many thousands of our old age pensioners are living below the borderline of poverty."

Hitting out at federal subsidies for cultural development in Canada, Mr. Low said: "It is inexcusable since we are living in a country that produces thirty billion dollars worth of goods and services a year and in the period that could be the greatest of our history it seems we can afford countless luxuries and non-essential expenditures in our national budget."

"We can afford to set aside fifty million dollars for culture, which may include teaching the Indian to ride side-saddle."

To avoid any misunderstanding, Mr. Low added: "There is no group representing the people as a whole that is more aware of the value of cultural development and wholesome cultural activities than the Social Credit movement."

Social Credit believes that culture cannot be bought and sold, but must "spring spontaneously from within the individuals in our country and cannot be forced on a nation by a group of eggheads."

"The present national policy amounts to a subsidy for mediocrity."

Mr. Low summed up: "The treatment of the old-age pensioner in all parts of Canada except the Social Credit provinces exemplifies the kind of thinking that now controls our federal government."

"There is no problem about finding money for a spending

New Pioneering Era Diefenbaker Pledge

SHAWVILLE, Que. (CP)—A new pioneering age, focused on Canada's North, has been promised by John Diefenbaker if a Progressive Conservative government is elected June 10.

Canada's future is in the North, the Conservative leader told some 500 persons in the high school auditorium here Monday night as he wound up a one-day tour of Pontiac-Témiscamingue constituency, in the Upper Ottawa Valley.

Earlier, as he moved through this farming area, Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a luncheon meeting in nearby Bristol, Que., to Prime Minister St. Laurent's recent statement that he plans to attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London June 26.

"I'm going there too, I think," the Conservative leader said.

It was another of a series of confident statements about the federal election's outcome that

Mr. Diefenbaker has made, especially as his Maritimes tour drew to an end last week.

At Bryson Mrs. Diefenbaker made her second speech of the campaign; she has travelled with her husband from the start.

This will bring the Matador within striking distance of some of Red China's biggest air bases, notably the installation at Lukiao, in Chekiang province.

Labor Loses Seats In U.K. Urban Voting

LONDON (Reuters)—The Labor party lost control of three urban district councils in first results announced today in week-long municipal elections throughout Britain.

Anti-Socialist candidates running under various labels threw the Socialists out of power at Chepstow in Wales, Aldridge in Central England and at Little Lever in Lancashire.

But the results from polling Monday in 75 urban and rural district councils showed little evidence of a pronounced swing in favor of either the pro-government or Socialist parties.

A breakdown of gains and losses to date showed a net loss of one seat each by Conservatives and Labor. Liberals and Independents, whom the Labor party brackets with other anti-Socialist opponents, had a net gain of one seat each.

The elections, involving a total turnover of 7,500 council seats in England and Wales and 900 in Scotland, provide the first national test of whether the government's stock is recovering from its slump after the Suez crisis.

Only one-third of the seats in each council are involved. The councils are totally elected over a three-year cycle, and the group of seats now being fought was last vacant in 1954, when Labor had more than 600 net gains.

Polling continued today in a number of urban and rural district councils, but the chief interest was in the Scottish elections, where 196 boroughs voted.

All of these companies have been associated for years with quality, precision manufacture and high-performance products.

Pursuant to these agreements, Daimler-Benz and Curtiss-Wright have formed an American company—Curtiss-Wright and Mercedes-Benz, Inc.—to provide for the development and sale of Daimler-Benz products in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba.

Studebaker-Packard Corporation in signing the agreements will now make available to its dealers a full line of domestic and imported sports cars, convertibles, sedans and station wagons—ranging in price from under $2,000 up to $13,000—gasoline and diesel powered trucks and all-wheel drive utility vehicles.

Mercedes-Benz cars and distinctive Mercedes-Benz features—such as fine coachwork, swing axles and transmissions—will be exclusive to Studebaker-Packard.

The Utica-Bend Division of Curtiss-Wright Corporation, now building diesel engines for the U. S. Navy, will import and manufacture Mercedes-Benz diesel engines and diesel and gasoline engine fuel injection systems under the agreements. The engines will range from a 4-cylinder model of 25 h.p. to a supercharged 8-cylinder model of 600 h.p.

Further agreements are being negotiated between Daimler-Benz and Curtiss-Wright Corporation for the interchange of rights for the manufacture of aircraft products.

Someone Must Pay

A KEY FACT OF THE NORTH American economy was isolated the other day by Professor Joseph Garbarino, an eminent economist of California University. It is that wages as a whole have been increasing much faster than productivity. The result, inevitably, is a rising price level. (Last week the Canadian cost-of-living index hit a new high.)

In the United States, Professor Garbarino told an economists' conference at San Francisco, productivity has been increasing annually between 3 and 3½ per cent during the last three years. For every hour of work the output of goods has expanded by a fraction which may seem small to the layman but, to the economist, is remarkably high by all past measurement.

At the same time hourly wages have risen at the annual rate of about 5 per cent.

Higher wages need not mean higher production costs if they are accompanied by an equal rise in productivity. But if wage increases exceed productivity, as they have been doing, higher production costs are, of course, inescapable. The only question is who shall pay those costs.

Part of them can be paid out of the profits of industry, at the expense of the shareholders, or by a reduction in the industry's capital investment, its growth and its potential employment.

In the main, however, the extra costs will be handed on to the consumer in prices. That is what has happened not only in the United States but in Canada and the process is known as inflation.

There will always be inflation, no matter what fiscal remedies the government may apply, so long as wages advance faster than productivity. There will be, in other words, a debasement of wages as their purchasing power falls.

Some groups may escape that penalty if they can raise their wages high enough but for the community as a whole there is no escape. The gains of some groups are paid by the losses of others, notably those living on fixed savings or pensions.

This is what President Eisenhower meant when he said in his last Economic Report that the fiscal policies of the state "must be supported by appropriate private policies to assure both a high level of economic activity and a stable dollar." In other words, the government's anti-inflation policies cannot succeed if industry continues to raise its production costs and makes the consumer pay them. Exactly that has been happening throughout America.

An up-to-date analysis of the Canadian trend in productivity and wages would be interesting at this time but without it we have good reason to know that increasing costs are pushing up prices to a dangerous point in some industries.

The most obvious example is the British Columbia lumber industry where prices are becoming too high for the world market in which we must sell most of our products.

As Mr. Williston, the minister of lands and forests says, the lumber industry's long post-war "honeymoon" is finished. A further rise in the cost of making lumber can only worsen a situation already alarming. No other great Canadian industry has yet reached the point of diminishing returns since up to now, it has been possible to hand on higher costs to our customers at home and abroad. But this cannot go on forever.

Mr. Bevan Soothes India

MR. ANEURIN BEVAN, STORM- centre of many a Labor Party tempest and a man who won't stay down, has performed what appears to be a major feat of statesmanship.

Mr. Bevan has at least temporarily silenced cries in India to take the sub-continent out of the Commonwealth. The achievement is as surprising as the instrument. Mr. Bevan, fiery, belligerent, has seldom, if ever, been pictured as a peace-maker.

That, however, seems to have been his role on a recent visit to Mr. Nehru. The Celt who is still considered a potential leader of the British Labor Party, although the TUC turned its back on him when he bid to succeed Clement Attlee, reached India in time to hear bitter debate on the Commonwealth in Delhi's domed House of the People.

He listened to charges by India's spokesmen against Britain's role in the UN's debate on Kashmir. He heard criticism of an unfriendly British press and a Britain biased in favor of Pakistan. He was in the House when delegate after delegate paraphrased the familiar chant: "We should quit the Commonwealth."

Then Mr. Bevan, given a chance to speak, went to work on the same assembly. He spoke with the eloquence of which he is a master. He spoke responsibly and sincerely, saying what he felt deeply.

He neither played to the galleries nor talked down to the Indian representatives.

He told them that they had been given ample opportunity — and had seized it — to criticize Britain over Suez. "You must not be hypersensitive when we criticize you," he said.

Mr. Bevan drew a graphic picture of the changing Commonwealth and urged India not to withdraw her influence just when it was transforming itself into a multi-racial organization.

Specifically Mr. Bevan talked to the parliamentarians of India as mature people who were his equals. And, in a press interview, he scored a significant Suez point: "I have never maintained that because Eden was wrong, Nasser was right."

There are other influences which may help to change the attitude of India to the Commonwealth. There is a perceptible inclination in Britain to move from a strong pro-Pakistan line — to admit that India has a case in Kashmir. There is also a greater show of political strength by communists and a recognition of what that means by the Congress Party.

Taking these factors, and others, into consideration, it is still noteworthy that the chorus: "We should quit the Commonwealth" has died out since Mr. Bevan spoke to the House of the People. His accomplishment is recognized.

The Unassimilable Lump

ONCE MORE THE SONS OF Freedom sect of the Doukhobors is negotiating to remove itself lock, stock and barrel from British Columbia. The reports rouse hopes — although in the light of experience they must remain faint — for a solution of the long-standing problem their presence poses.

In contrast to the good citizenship of the great majority of Doukhobors in British Columbia and other provinces, the extremist sect has consistently refused to permit the children of members to attend school. Since by law all children between the ages of seven and 15 must attend approved schools the Provincial Government was confronted with the alternatives of enforcing the law or establishing a "special class" of citizen. There could be only one choice.

That decision, unfortunately, has had inevitable repercussions. By law, children refused schooling by their parents may be removed from the home and placed in an institution where their studies can be carried on. The regulations have been enforced from time to time in individual cases without any widespread problem arising.

But in the case of the Sons of Freedom this involved mass action. Upwards of 100 children of school age have been taken from their parents in police raids and placed in a New Denver "orphanage" where they attend the local public school.

Parents can visit their offspring only twice a month and talk to them through a high wire fence. The children, according to report, are well cared for and happy, but naturally lack the intangible benefits provided by proper home life.

It is difficult to predict the ultimate effects of this sort of treatment. No one likes it or believes it to be ideal, least of all the Government authorities. The resentment of local residents against Sons of Freedom intransigence — and the high cost of coping with it — is matched by the resentment of the parents against the Government's policy. What can be the answer?

The fact is that it is difficult to imagine a country on the globe where the Sons of Freedom would fit in. In their view most education inculcates idolatry, patriotism and war. The very fact that the current goal of their projected move is highly chauvinistic Russia, is an indication of the naivete of their approach to life.

Apart from removal to some as yet unnamed and completely isolated wilderness the future appears to hold nothing but trouble for a generation or two of the Sons of Freedom — and for the Canadians who must tolerate their presence.

The Angry Young Men

RALPH ALLEN, editor of Maclean's Magazine, is one of the ablest writing men this country has ever produced. Also a veteran of the last war, a passionate Canadian and an independent thinker. But years ago, in the middle of the depression, when he had just come of age, Mr. Allen voted for a communist candidate in a Manitoba election. According to the logic of the United States Senate subcommittee on internal security, that vote made Mr. Allen a communist or, at least, a security risk. According to common sense, it made Mr. Allen only an angry young man, sickened by the unbelievable stupidity of the nineteen-thirties, who grew up to hate communism, and all forms of human oppression, rather more than most Canadians.

But, as Mr. Allen writes in his magazine, his own case is an exact parallel of the Herbert Norman case. The late Mr. Norman also flirted with communism in his youth when all young men of intelligence were incited by a breakdown both in economics and public morality. Any young man who was not outraged by the spectacle of the thirties could not be considered intelligent.

To be sure, most intelligent young men did not turn to communism, but what of those who did? Are they to be condemned today for a youthful mistake about a system not then understood and not then a danger to the free world while at the same time men who did much worse things are accepted as pillars of society?

THAT is the essential question of the Norman case. As Mr. Allen puts it: "Let us stop asking men of good will and good record to say publicly whether they were once communists. Stop for the simple reason that if he stays within the law and holds to decent standards of behaviour and utterance, every human individual is entitled to develop, progress or regress as an individual within whatever frame of privacy he chooses for himself."

"We do not hold public interrogations of fly fishermen to discover whether they were fished with worms. We do not call good grey doctors to the witness stand to demand whether they once dreamed of growing up to be cowboys or train robbers. We do not insist that Liberals say whether they once were Conservatives, or Republicans whether they once were Democrats."

MR. ALLEN will agree, however, that the case is somewhat different if a man is to be appointed to a high diplomatic post where he has access to vital information desired by our enemies. Then it becomes necessary to ask not whether he was once sympathetic with those enemies but whether he still is.

Thus the only valid question faced by the Canadian Government was whether Mr. Norman could be trusted in his years of maturity. It knew already—Mr. Norman had made no secret of his past—that he had once associated with communists as a youth. If he still associated with them, if he still held the views of his youth, then he would be doing nothing illegal in this country but he could not be trusted with security information.

THE Government put Mr. Norman through long, intensive investigation with the aid of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. It decided that he could be trusted. Two clear questions thus arise today.

The first is whether we should trust this Government or any other Government, to investigate the reliability of its servants.

The alternative is to allow some other body, like the Senate subcommittee, to investigate these matters and, as in the Norman case, to smear men for life solely because they made a mistake in their youth. For nothing whatever was proved against Mr. Norman except the fact, already well known to the Canadian Government, that he had been sympathetic toward communism in his youth.

NO responsible public man in Canada has suggested that we change our system and adopt the American system. No member suggested in our Parliament that Mr. Norman was sympathetic to communism while he was a public servant. The question of adopting the American system thus has been answered in the negative.

That leaves a second question: Are the present Government and specifically Mr. Pearson to be trusted to enforce the existing system? That, it seems to me, is the only question left to answer. Only the electors can answer it and they now have the opportunity to answer it.

Now, it may be urged that there is a third question: Did Mr. Pearson mislead Parliament when, at the beginning of this affair, he did not announce immediately that Mr. Norman had once sympathized with communism? I cannot think that this is a valid question.

UNDER the Canadian system Mr. Pearson was not bound to disclose what the Government knew of Mr. Norman's past. On the contrary, he was bound by that system not to reveal it. The whole essence of the system is that this information should not be published lest we degenerate into the American system of smear, innuendo and unproved rumor; that, in short, the Government should be trusted to make its own decisions in these matters. Or, if it is not trusted, should be replaced by another government.

After the personal tragedy of Cairo it was natural and proper that Mr. Pearson should not wish to aggravate it by dredging up Mr. Norman's youthful mistakes. However, he felt compelled to do so because a group of American senators had spread half-truths, sowed suspicions that could not be proved, being false, and threatened to continue this campaign of smear.

A challenge not only to Mr. Pearson but to Canada's sovereignty had to be answered. Or so Mr. Pearson evidently thought.

PERHAPS he would have been wiser not to make any detailed answer and not to reveal Mr. Norman's mistakes. He might have been wiser, that is to say, in a purely political sense. He might have saved himself a deal of trouble at election time. Instead, he decided to give Parliament the facts. There was no deception.

It is for the voters to decide whether Mr. Pearson can be trusted to appoint his own officials but whatever they may think of him and the Government they have already demonstrated a kind of sanity which is not always apparent in some other countries. A few candidates have done otherwise but our political parties, to their credit, have not tried to play politics with a question of national security and the tragedy of a distinguished public servant.

As Our Readers See It

Bright Side Up

I wish to express through your valuable paper my sincere appreciation to the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Local 1163 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America for all they have done for me, in thoughts, words and deeds.

Although I knew "my dear old home" needed renovating very much, I had not dared to hope it ever could possibly happen. Now it is all changed and I feel I am the most fortunate person.

It is grand to know that we have such wonderful organizations that do think of the unfortunate ones.

I cannot thank them all too much.

God bless you all.

MISS RANKHA ANDERSON.

2221 Fernwood Road.

Civil Servants' Handicap

The most perfect justification for unions, guilds, employees associations, etc., has recently been demonstrated by the provincial government in its dealings with its employees.

This year, practically every organized group received pay increases from 4 per cent to 15 per cent. The Civil Servants did not even have a reasonable hearing.

I never before realized, in a democratic state, the importance of the right to strike or arbitrate.

You have in the provincial civil servants, the only group without the right of arbitration and they are the only group not to receive consideration. This group is apparently barred from taking their case to the courts of this province, and their only alternative would seem to be an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

It seems unbelievable, that the lawmakers, who drew up the Labor Relations Act, bar their own employees from application of that Act.

Culmination of a Wish

I feel I owe you a letter of gratitude for the generous amount of space and publicity that the Daily Times has afforded to my work since my recent return to Victoria, and also for the great interest taken by so many residents and visitors in the exhibition of my paintings of Canadian Wild Flowers at the Art Gallery.

I would like so much to be able to express my thanks to all those people who attended the opening ceremony of the exhibition in order to enjoy with me what was not only a very happy occasion but the culmination of a great wish. During my stay in England I fervently hoped that on my return to Canada my first showing could be in Victoria, and that the display would consist of the collection of Canadian Wild Flowers (many of them originally painted in Victoria) which gained for me the two highest awards of the Royal Horticultural Society of London.

I am indeed grateful to Mr. Colin Graham, the able curator of the gallery, and the president and board of the Art Gallery for making this exhibition possible, and to friends who suggested and helped towards it.

I have been sorry to learn that a number of people had to be inadvertently turned away from the opening ceremony as there was no room left to accommodate them. I know that Mr. Graham and the president join me in offering our sincere regrets for this—a sure proof beyond doubt that Victoria's Art Gallery needs an extension.

May I hope that those people who turned away disappointed will make another opportunity of visiting the display, and I will do my best to be there to welcome them personally.

EMILY SARTAIN.

c/o The Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

Thanks

On behalf of the Lake District Guide Local Association, I would like to thank Mr. Watson, manager of Royal Colwood Golf Club, and his staff for their kind assistance to us on the day of our tea and bazaar; also all who were there to help us make it a success. In view of the fact that such a huge number of people came to the opening, we must apologize for the slowness in serving tea, and we thank everybody for their patience and co-operation.

MRS. LAURA MILLS.
District Commissioner, Lake District Girl Guides.

Her 'Beef'

I recently received a clipping from the Victoria Times of an article by Norman Cribbens about St. George's Day in Victoria, and must take issue with his statement that "even in England St. George's Day now passes almost unnoticed."

This may be true of London. It is not true of other cities and the larger rural areas. Kendal, like Victoria, is very patriotic about St. George's Day and our local secretary, Mr. Charles Hogarth, has worked hard to keep this day alive in all its facets.

What is more, we ate roast beef on the Day—not turkey as in Victoria!

Mr. Cribbens should know that London is not always representative of England and England should not be blamed for London's omissions. I wonder—do they celebrate St. George's Day in other parts of Canada?

(MRS.) HILDA HUNTER.

FROM ROME

By WALTER LIPPMANN

No Settlement in Sight

FROM Tunisia, which has been celebrating the first anniversary of its national independence, one could see the crisis in Jordan in an interesting and revealing perspective. Here, more clearly else in the Arab world, there exists the will to work out the national future without enmity towards, indeed by accommodation with, Western Europe and the United States. Under Habib Bourguiba, and his party which is called the Neo-Destour, the Tunisian nation is turned away from the road on which Nasser is attempting to take all the Arab peoples.

If there is an alternative to the revolutionary movement which precipitated the crisis in Jordan, it is the kind of progressive nationalism, energetic but not fanatical, which the liberators of Tunisia represent.

The critical and dramatic question is whether the future of the community of Arab peoples lies with Nasser or with men like Bourguiba, with the supernaturalists and the revolutionaries working out of Cairo, or with the nationalists and the reformers in the various countries.

The answer to that question depends only in some measure on what the United States will contribute to the development of Tunisia. In much greater measure the answer depends on how farsighted and generous is the French policy. In the final reckoning the answer may be determined by what happens next door in Algeria.

Of one general conclusion we can, I think, be certain. It is that foreign intervention, be it Soviet, French, British or American, is secondary to the internal conflict within the Arab countries.

In all of them, though in differing degree, the issue is raised by two great conflicting tendencies. The one, as exemplified by Bourguiba, is to maintain the existing political and social order of the national liberators, and in some degree to reform and improve it. The other tendency, which is propelled from Cairo, is revolutionary.

It aims not only at the overthrow of the existing political order, as was attempted recently in Jordan, but also at the creation of a revolutionary imperialism which would make Nasser in Cairo the master of the Arab world.

In Tunisia the progressive nationalism of Bourguiba provides a genuine and promising alternative to the revolutionary movement which Nasser is leading. Where there is no such alternative, as for example in Jordan itself, there is no much left to do except to suppress the revolutionary forces by martial law, and to sit as long as possible on the lid of the cauldron.

Both Involved

Both the Soviet Union and the United States are involved in the conflict between the revolutionary forces and the established order.

U.S. policy is to support the established order against the revolutionary movements. Wherever we can, we encourage the existing rulers to be progressive and benevolent and to try to raise the standard of life among their people.

But when the ruling classes will not be progressive and benevolent, as for example in Saudi Arabia, we support them nevertheless because they maintain the existing order as against the revolutionary and fanatically anti-Western popular forces which Nasser excites.

The Soviets, on the other hand, support the revolutionary forces wherever and whenever they can do so without committing themselves to military action or even to large financial contributions. They support Nasser's revolution not because he is a communist. They support it because if Nasser succeeds, he will ruin irretrievably the Western European and American position in the whole Middle East.

Policy Lacking

But if nothing has come from Moscow which suggests that negotiations and arrangements are possible, nothing has come from the President and Mr. Dulles which suggests that they have any thought of negotiation and an accommodation which would recognize the indubitable national interest of Russia in the Middle East.

Nothing has come from them which suggests that they have anything more constructive in mind than a policy of unconditional surrender.

I think well of what I understand we have done in Jordan. But martial law under a little king is not a durable order of things.

We must look ahead, and our position for the long pull will be stronger, so it seems to me, if we make it known that the issues in the Middle East—about the canal, the oil, the bases—are not irreconcilable, and that we do not exclude absolutely and forever an accommodation with the national interest of Russia. ## Reeve Rejects Bid to Oust Argyle From Committee Post

Reeve A. C. Wurtele Monday night refused to ask Councillor George Argyle to resign as chairman of public works in a council free-for-all over rental of a street-sweeping machine.

Council was plunged into its hottest debate in several months following a solicitors' report that there was "nothing, illegal" in renting a street-sweeper from Esquimalt Service Ltd.

Although Coun. Argyle is a shareholder and director in the firm, he is not barred from council providing he does not vote on matters pertaining to his firm, the report said.

Clash of tempers began with Coun. J. E. Carey's motion that Coun. Argyle be asked to resign.

Honorable Man

"I believe Coun. Argyle to be an honorable man," the reeve said. "Your motion is not in order. I'm not going to ask him to resign."

"Who's going to bring down the estimates of the public works committee?" Coun. James Bryant asked.

"Coun. Argyle, of course," the reeve snapped.

"He surely can't if street-cleaning is in it," said Coun. Bryant. "... We all know it certainly doesn't look good. If we get six councillors in here and they all try to bring their own business into the municipality, it's not going to be a pretty situation."

In quick order, Reeve Wurtele also refused to entertain Coun. Walter Holder's motion that "council will not hire any more equipment from Esquimalt Service"; Coun. Carey's motion that "before any contract is allowed in the municipality, it first be considered by the finance committee"; and Coun. Bryant's motion that "no street-sweeping machine be hired before the matter is discussed in council."

Unethical Role

Coun. Argyle—barred by law from taking part in the discussion—was lashed by Couns. Bryant and Holder for his "unethical" role in renting the machine from his own firm.

"Coun. Argyle knows just as well as we do that it's just not done," Coun. Holder said.

Shouting above cries of "out of order" from the reeve, Coun. Carey insisted that the matter of Coun. Argyle and the street sweeper be carried to the deputy minister of municipal affairs for a ruling.

"If you're not satisfied with the municipal solicitors, there is a way to go about it," the reeve said.

Coun. Carey replied that: "I'm going to take that way, too."

He did not elaborate. On a question from Coun. Bryant, acting municipal engineer J. O. Leask disclosed that $300 had been spent on rental of the street-sweeper in April in addition to $612 in March.

Costs Too Much

"The machine costs too much money and it's not doing a good job," Coun. Holder complained. "Why waste the taxpayers' money? I don't see the point."

"The engineer is entitled to hire equipment for street cleaning or for municipal repairs," the reeve said. By refusing the right, council would "merely be saying it didn't have any faith in the engineer at all."

He refused to entertain Coun. Bryant's motion because "it would be tying the engineer down."

"We have a right to tie him down," Coun. Bryant replied. "That's our business."

The reeve's call for a motion that the $612 bill be paid was greeted with silence.

Council finally agreed to refer the account to the finance committee headed by Coun. Carey for a report.

"I'd like to see Coun. Argyle sue the municipality for it," Coun. Carey said.

POWER BREAK DELAYS TIMES

Delay in the delivery of the Times to some subscribers Monday afternoon was due to the electric power failure.

Approximately half the papers for home delivery had been printed when power went off. At the Times plant the failure lasted 57 minutes. Printing was resumed immediately the current returned and special arrangements were made by Times circulation staff to speed up the delayed delivery.

Blackout Due To Trouble On Mainland

Victoria and southern Vancouver Island suffered a power blackout Monday afternoon, caused for the first time by trouble in the B.C. Electric submarine cable system that provides the island with power from the mainland.

Company officials said a failure at Inglewood substation near Vancouver caused the loss of power, starting at 2:56 p.m. Some areas had service restored in 10 minutes, others waited until 4:44 p.m.

Driving became somewhat disorderly at certain downtown intersections, where traffic lights were off for more than one hour.

Jordan River plant of the B.C. Electric was able to keep emergency circuits activated.

Ordinarily, under such circumstances, the loss would be made up by the B.C. Power Commission from its John Hart plant.

Purely by coincidence, however, the power commission system in the area had been cut out at the time to permit a connection with the site of the B.C. Forest Products pulp mill at Crofton.

Bandit Appeal Hinges On Psychiatric Test

Whether Colin W. Chalmers, convicted Victoria bank robber, serves 20 years in the penitentiary may depend on a psychiatrist's report ordered in B.C. Appeal Court Monday afternoon.

Three appeal judges reserved their decision after Chalmers, his friends and family had pleaded against the sentence on compassionate grounds.

Mr. Justice Sidney Smith agreed that Chalmers should be examined by a psychiatrist, and said the court would give its decision in Vancouver May 21.

Chalmers refused legal aid at the appeal and, choked with sobs, presented his own defence.

Appearing for the crown, R. A. Wootton, QC, contended that the character evidence presented at the appeal should have been presented at the original trial in B.C. Assize Court, March 28.

OVERRULED

He was overruled by Mr. Justice Sidney Smith, the presiding judge, who said: "We have decided to hear this appeal."

Mr. Wootton said Chalmers was "ably defended" in the Assize Court by two counsel who gave their services under the legal aid scheme.

He recounted how Chalmers had been found guilty of entering the James Bay branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce on Feb. 11 and stealing $3,640 at Tribune.

gunpoint from teller Peter Margets.

"He had a gun in his hand... and he thrust it into the stomach of the teller and threatened the staff," counsel said.

DENIED

This was later denied by Chalmers, who told the judges: "I never touched anyone in the bank... I had no intention of hurting anyone."

A number of Chalmers' friends testified to his "kindness and generosity" and one of them, Ron Le Gary, 772 Dallas Road, said:

"We are thinking of making him a godfather for our new baby."

Chalmers, wearing a smart grey suit with tartan tie, said in court:

THANKS FRIENDS

"I would like to thank my friends for what they have said on my behalf."

After the court rose he was escorted back to Oakalla prison by an RCMP guard.

Ugly Duckling Gino Big Bird For Brooks

Cimoli's Bat Clubs Braves; Dusters Fly

By United Press
Gino Cimoli, the "ugly duckling" of the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers, is the latest example that sometimes the best trades in baseball are the ones that never are made.

A mere .111 hitter who batted only 36 times in 73 games last season, Cimoli was the Dodgers' No. 1 trade bait all winter. They practically pleaded with the Cardinals, Cubs and Phillies to make a deal for him and eventually kept him only because nobody else was interested.

And so today, the 28-year-old native of San Francisco is batting .316, has driven in 10 runs, leads the team with 25 hits and is the hero of the Dodgers' 5-4 four-hour, 14-inning victory over the Braves Monday night. Cimoli broke it up with his fifth hit of the night, a solo homer off Red Murff to lead off the 14th frame and give Sandy Koufax his first win.

The Chicago Cubs whipped the New York Giants, 6-2, in the only other National League game yesterday while the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Detroit Tigers, 8-6, in 13 innings and the Kansas City Athletics walloped the Washington Senators, 8-2, in American League games.

DUSTER DUEL

Cimoli's blast ended a tight battle between the two leading NL contenders which started out as a "brush back" battle and wound up in a pitchers' duel decided by homers. Umpire Lee Ballanfant was forced to call managers Walt Alston and Fred Haney to the mound to warn of a "bean ball" duel after starting pitchers Lew Burdette and Don Drysdale both were guilty of "dusters" in the first frame.

Murff took over for Burdette in the 13th and suffered his first major league defeat, and the first by a Milwaukee relief pitcher this season, when Cimoli connected in the 14th. It was Gino's second homer—and his first also broke up an extra inning game against Robin Roberts, April 16. The victory left the Dodgers only one game behind the front-running Braves.

Don Kaiser, 22-year-old speedballer, pitched a six-hitter to gain his first victory for the Cubs and help hand Ruben Gomez his first loss after three straight wins for the Giants. Ed Vincenik's two-run single was the key blow of the Cubs' four-run sixth-inning rally that broke open the game. The loss was the Giants' seventh in nine games.

Jim Brideweser's first hit of the season, a double, drove in two runs in the 13th to give the Orioles their victory over the Tigers. The blow followed a double by Gus Triandos and an intentional walk to Dick Williams, providing relief pitcher George Zuverink with his second win. Bob Nieman homered for the Orioles, who snapped a four-game losing streak.

Robt. Jim Fisoni's grand slam homer dimmed a six-run first-inning rally and Ned Garver protected it for Kansas City the rest of the way with a neat six-hitter. Guz Zernial had sent the Athletics in front with a two-run single as the Athletics dealt Chuck Stobbs, a 15-game winner last season, his fifth straight loss.

Wins Wilkerson Cup

Mrs. R. Wakelin won the Wilkerson Cup at Gorge Vale Sunday, finishing the annual 36-hole women's golf competition with a net 154. Mrs. D. Naysmith took top honors in Sunday's second round as she fired a net 73 over the final 18 holes. Mrs. C. Holland topped entrants in the first round with a net 73.

Mrs. S. Paterson, touring the 36 holes in 186 strokes, won low gross laurels.

expect a pitch faster than it actually came over the plate. Paul Derringer reared back and put his foot in the batter's face and Freddy Fitzsimmons developed a confusing trick of almost turning his back to the hitter as he coiled to throw.

Konstanty, in his big year, was a marksman who played the corners out of a loose, easy motion. When he started to bear down for a fast ball he was finished. He had one fair year with a 14-10 record in 1953 but then was waived out of the National League in 1954 and saw brief service with the Yankees.

Since then it has been downhill to the minors from which it took him so long to spring. And now he'll make one last urgent effort but even to big Jim the odds must seem hopelessly high.

Does He? Judge for Yourself

Does Milwaukee's Lew Burdette work "spitter" into his mound routine? Some National League clubs, especially Cincinnati Redlegs, claim he does. But league officials say a study of Burdette's pitching actions show no indication Braves' righthander uses outlawed spitball. Lew's controversial gestures as he steps on rubber for delivery shows him passing hand in front of face, fingering forehead, toying with ball in glove, fingering cap and wetting tips of fingers as he reaches down for rosin bag. Burdette, who has won nine straight from Redlegs, has been one of the most effective NL hurlers this season. (AP Wirephoto.)

'SOMETHING DRASTIC ...'

Dressen on Skids With Washington?

DETROIT (AP)—Owner Calvin Griffith said today he plans to relieve Charlie Dressen as manager of Washington Senators, in last place in the American League.

The baseball club's president arrived after an overnight trip from Washington where he had been quoted as saying he planned "drastic changes" after the Senators lost eight straight games and 16 of their first 20.

Griffith at first refused to comment on reports he planned to fire the 58-year-old Dressen, now in his third season at the Senators' helm. Later he said "I don't know how the story got out—only a couple of people knew about it."

Asked further about the report that he would offer Dressen a job as assistant to the president, the Senators' president said:

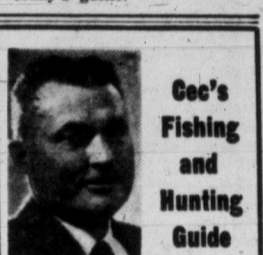

"Everything will have to wait until I talk with Chuck. He may not want what I'm going to offer him. I may not even talk with him until after today's game."

Mawhinney Leads In Oregon Open

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Bill Mawhinney, Vancouver, B.C., professional, shot a four-under-par 68 Monday to take a slim, one-stroke lead in the Oregon Open golf championships at Waverley Country Club here.

He had nines of 33 and 35 for the par 36-36 course. Tied behind him were Ken Still, Tacoma professional, with 34-35-69, and Ad Huycke, Portland, amateur, with 34-35-69.

Only eight other players from the huge field of 210 were able to crack par on the course.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

BY
Denny Boyd

Joe Briggs fits nicely, thank you, into that special niche reserved for Island Open golf champions.

It is a select crowd, these fellows who have proven themselves the best from Saxe Point to Cape Scott in the realm of match play golf. Joe's name-card will be filed along with Eric Hiberson, Bob Fleming, Ted Colgate, Bob Morrison, Bill McColl and Laurie Kerr.

Joe heaved his duffel-bag into this reserved dormitory last Sunday when he tamed himself, Bill Court and the Uplands Golf Club in the last go-round of the six-week tournament.

Briggs' victory was all the more palatable because it was spiced with the garlic of errors and the peppermint of great recoveries.

For years to come, when it is raining outside and they gather around the stove in Walt Gavin's pro shop at Uplands, they will go over that 21st hole of Sunday's final.

At the end of 18 holes, Briggs had taken a two up lead. After lunch, they started again down that long, acre-wide first hole and Joe won it with a bogey five to go three up.

Then they came down the second hole the 20th of the match and the golf gremlins started raising hob.

Court shanked his second and missed the green with his third. But Briggs, who seldom makes mistakes, opened the flood-gates here.

He put his second into a trap, exploded out clear over the green and was weak coming back. Two putts later, Briggs and Court were saying silent prayers for a half in sixes.

But on the fenced-in 21st, Briggs pulled his tee shot into a bunker. Court, falling away from the ball as he hit, pumped his tee shot out-of-bounds over the fence and hit his second drive down the middle where he lay three.

The voting was done by hockey writers, broadcasters and telecasters in the six NHL cities. Each city's vote was weighted to give equal voting strength. Five points were awarded for a first-place choice, three for second and one for third.

Howe's extra winnings for the season reached $4,500. He won the NHL scoring championship, was a member of the title-holding Wings, who finished first in the league race, and was voted to the right-wing spot on the NHL first all-star team. Each achievement was worth $1,000.

He also won $500 as a member of the losing team, against Boston Bruins, in a semi-final of the Stanley Cup series.

But, as mad as he was, it took a while before Briggs could strike back. Three holes in a row were halved and after 26, they still were all square, Briggs belting those beautifully-controlled, quail-high wood shots and Court depending on his short game.

But it was this short game that deserted him and started Court's downfall on the 27th hole.

Briggs skied his tee shot and had a difficult chip over a bunker to the green. Court, at the top edge of the green after his drive, had a relatively easy downhill chip to the pin.

He missed it.

The skulled shot went only halfway and Court, instead of going one-up, had to settle for a half in four.

On the 28th, Court failed to clear a bunker with his chip shot. took a five and it was Briggs who was one up as Joe sent down a bold putt for his par.

It went six more holes after that but the match actually ended around the 27th and 28th greens when Briggs, as champions must, erased his own mistakes and wrote in the proper corrections.

Yes, Joe Briggs fits in nicely.

Mounties Lose, 4-0, In Finale With Padres

It's time to change partners in the Pacific Coast League again, and the league-leading Los Angeles Angels get the loop "push-over"—if you go by the record.

The Angels, leading by one game, visit the Portland Beavers, who are trailing by 10½. In other games tonight second-place Seattle hosts fourth-place San Diego, Vancouver entertains San Francisco, and Hollywood welcomes Sacramento.

Two games were finished in the league Monday night—but only one was started. The Vancouver Mounties downed San Diego, 1-0, in the completion of a contest that was called by curfew after six and one-half innings Sunday. The Padres bounced back in the scheduled game to win 4-0.

Not much was accomplished in the partial contest. The score was 1-0 when the game was called Sunday, and that's just the way it ended. George Bamberger got the victory.

Then San Diego, apparently in a test of the old saying "what's in a name?", sent Bud Daley to the mound in the second game—and he blanked the Mounties on four hits, walking only one and striking out eight.

Howe Wins MVP Award Third Time

MONTREAL (CP)—Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings is the 1956-57 winner of the Hart Trophy—awarded to the player adjudged most valuable to his team—the National Hockey League announced Monday.

Howe now has won the prized award, and the $1,000 that goes with it, three times in his 11-year NHL career.

The Detroit star won easily. He polled 111 points to 58 for Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens, who was leader in the mid-season voting but fell off badly in the second half. Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers was third with 51 points.

The voting was done by hockey writers, broadcasters and telecasters in the six NHL cities. Each city's vote was weighted to give equal voting strength. Five points were awarded for a first-place choice, three for second and one for third.

SELECT CIRCLE

Howe's extra winnings for the season reached $4,500. He won the NHL scoring championship, was a member of the title-holding Wings, who finished first in the league race, and was voted to the right-wing spot on the NHL first all-star team. Each achievement was worth $1,000.

He also won $500 as a member of the losing team, against Boston Bruins, in a semi-final of the Stanley Cup series.

Air Cadet Team Wins .22 Shoot

The 89th Kinsmen Air Cadet Rifle team scored an upset victory Saturday at Bay Street Armouries when they fell only 11 points short of a perfect score to win the Adams Trophy .22 rifle competition over University School "A" team with a score of 489 out of a possible 500.

The Air Cadets played second to the "School" team all season but, sparked by Dean Thom with a perfect 100, came up to win with E. Henley at 99, J. Durran 98, Peter Roche 98 and E. Rogers 94.

Shooting their best single round of the year, University School had P. Brown, R. Fulton and J. Earl at 97, R. Dalziel 96 and J. Coleman 95 for a 482 total.

RUGBY MISSIONARIES

Orphan Barbs To Preach Here

A rugged group of strangers to Canada hold the fourth "gospel" meeting of their trans-Canada rugby missionary tour at Macdonald Park Wednesday night.

Dedicated to the task of furthering the cause of rugby, the Barbarians, Britain's homeless and famous rugby squad, meets a British Columbia representative side at 7.

Barbarians Football Club, which has no home grounds and can be joined only by invitation, is breaking with tradition and making the first overseas jaunt in the club's 67-year-old history with the intention of showing Canadian fans the wide-open, crowd-pleasing style of play that made them famous.

Dr. G. L. Glyn Hughes, club president and tour manager, says the tour is a "wonderful opportunity to do missionary work in Canada" on behalf of the traditional British public school sport.

The Barbarians preached awe-inspiring lessons at Toronto, where they opened their tour and dealt out 47-3 and 52-0 sermons to the Ontario all-stars. But they had a bit more trouble converting the rugby heathens at Vancouver Saturday although impressing the fans with their blinding speed and expert ball handling.

Hampered by the loss of forward J. R. Jacobs through a hip injury early in the match, the Barbarians turned back a hard-fighting B.C. team, 19-6.

Whichever 15 men he chooses for Wednesday's match, Hughes will send an all-international squad out on the Macdonald Park pitch. All 20 players making the tour have earned places on either the England, Ireland, Scotland or Wales international teams.

Touring with the Bar-Baas are: T. E. Davies (Llanelli and Wales), P. H. Thompson (Headingley and England), G. M. Griffiths (Cardiff and Wales), G. Wells (Cardiff and Wales), A. J. F. O'Reilly (Old Belvedere and Ireland), Cliff Morgan (Cardiff and Wales), D. G. S. Baker (Old Merchant Taylors' and England), A. A. Mulligan (Cambridge University and England), A. F. Dorward (Gala and Scotland), J. I. Brennan (Ireland).

E. Evans (Sale and England), Robin Roe (London Irish and Ireland), G. W. Hastings (Gloucester and England), R. W. D. Marquess (Cambridge and England), E. J. S. Michie (London Scottish and Scotland), R. H. Williams (Llanelli and Wales), A. Robson (Hawick and Scotland), J. T. Greenwood (Perthshire Academicals and Scotland) and Tom Reid (Ireland).

Seven Victorians—Forwards Harry Turner, Steve Smith, Paul Beck and Mike Kaye; fullback Frank Gower, stand-off Ray Calton and scrum half Gary Webster—are slated for action against the Barbarians.

ing I was hitting against myself. He was a victim of his own vanity. The opposition kept needing him, throughout his big year, that he threw a "nothing" pitch and ridiculed the fact that he didn't have a fast ball. Konstanty decided to do something about it and worked hard to develop a blazer. He did. But in the process he ruined his motion and lost his control. A "junk" pitcher without a confusing motion is as effective as a chorus girl in slacks. The speedball pitcher doesn't need it necessarily but even there it helps.

Herb Pennock had a slow, big motion which gave him a "sneaky" fast ball which looked faster than it was. Smokey Joe Wood had a fast, jerky motion which made the hitter

KONSTANTY BETRAYED BY OWN PITCHING PRIDE

Big Jim Fights to Save Own Game.

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Big Jim Konstanty will try to teach seven years into the past today in a last-ditch effort to save his baseball future.

This is strictly a long shot for the burly man with the spectacles who back in 1950 pitched the Phillies to the National League pennant. But, released from the Pacific Coast League, he'll storm the Polo Grounds to try to capitalize on the pitching poverty of the New York Giants.

Yet big Jim is 40 now and it is doubtful that even the Giants are desperate enough to hire him, or keep him very long if they do.

It is another instance of how the old heroes try frantically to cling to a way of life fashioned in their youth. The minors are filled with them, guys playing out the string such as Monte Irvin, Gene Bearden, Grady Hatton, Red Munger, Larry Jansen, Bill Voiselle, Luke Easter and Satch Paige.

Few of them hit it any bigger than Konstanty before he was betrayed by his pride, only to discover that while it's a long way to the top it's a short trip to the bottom.

It's part of the baseball history books how Konstanty, after nine mediocre years, suddenly caught fire for the Phillies in 1950 and led the Whiz Kids to the pennant. He was the pappy guy of a young ball club but the man who paced them home as he won 16 games and saved two dozen more while appearing in 74 games. It earned the league's most valuable player award. "The next year," he says, "I was so lousy I kept wish-

Canyens Force Seventh Game

REGINA (CP)—Captain Ralph Backstrom led Ottawa Canadiens to a 4-2 victory over Flin Flon Bombers Monday night to force a seventh and deciding game in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup junior hockey series.

Quebec Aces Hot Choice For Trophy

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Aces, their stock boosted Sunday by a solid 4-2 victory over Brandon Regals in the fourth game of their best-of-nine Edinburg Trophy series, are now being favored to win it up in the next two games.

The win, which gave the Quebec Hockey League champions a 3-1 lead in the East-West contest, was the first game between the two clubs not decided by a single goal. Aces held the Western Hockey League title holders scoreless for over 50 minutes while running up a 4-0 lead.

Quebec won a Montreal contest 7-6 in a sudden-death overtime period. They also grabbed the series opener 5-4 but lost the second game 2-1 when Brandon counted at 19:55 of the final period.

Playing coach Don Raleigh of Regals Monday described his team's play Sunday as "our worst game of the season." Regals were without the services of centre Norm Johnson, benched with a charleyhorse, and missed Raleigh when he left the game before the last period with a pulled shoulder muscle.

Both players will be back in the lineup for tonight's game. Aces have come through the series without a serious injury.

The sixth game is scheduled for Thursday night with other games, if needed, set for the following Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Brodie's Whip Oilers, 10-4; Smokies Win

Senior "B" Men's Softball League action hit a running stride Monday night at Central Park when Brodie's Bakery and Firefighters both came up with wins in the second day of the season.

Brodie's handily whipped the Oilers, 10-4, behind the five-hit pitching of Jack Girard, to make it two in a row after nipping Mary's Coffee Bar, 7-6, in the league opener Sunday.

Firefighters trailed, 1-0, to the seventh inning when they pushed across a pair of markers. They repeated the job again in the eighth to come up with a 4-1 win over Fletcher's.

Barry Jackson pitched a three-hitter for the winners. In the other Sunday opener, Tudor House laced Navy, 9-4, behind the fine mound work of George Kaye.

TIME OUT! JEFF KEATE

"Might know it! First time my family has seen me in a game, and I put on a miserable performance!"

Willie Loses 15 Days, Too

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Jockey Willie Shoemaker hauled his golf clubs out of the closet today and prepared to sit out a 15-day suspension imposed on him by stewards of Churchill Downs for misjudging the finish line in last Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

The noted little rider's suspension will prevent him from getting a running start in the jockey race at Hollywood Park when the meeting opens Thursday and may cost him the riding championship at the track where he has been the leading jockey seven of the last eight meetings.

But Shoemaker didn't blame the stewards for suspending him—he blamed himself for the act of misjudgment that probably cost his mount, Gallant Man, victory in the race as he was nosed out by Iron Liege.

When informed of his suspension, Shoemaker said philosophically, "They think they're doing the right thing, so I guess there's little I can say about it. I just made a stupid mistake in judgment—and that's that."

More talkative than usual, Shoemaker revealed he realized his mistake the instant after he stood up in the irons at the 16th pole and said the names he silently called himself couldn't be printed in a newspaper.

"Then I laid the whip to Gallant Man again, but it was too late. I didn't pull him up when I eased up in the saddle, but the change in my position caused him to hesitate momentarily—just enough that we dropped from a nose to a head behind. He didn't break stride, though."

Ward's Amateur Status in Doubt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The amateur status of national golf champion Harvie Ward was questioned Monday.

San Francisco automobile dealer Edward E. Lowery said he paid Ward's expenses to compete in amateur tournaments in Detroit and Ontario.

Lowery, under indictment by the grand jury for allegedly evading state income taxes, testified he took Ward east and sponsored him in the events.

Stuart Heatley, northern California executive board member of the United States Golf Association, said this would invalidate Ward's amateur standing.

Ward, en route back to San Francisco from the Colonial golf tournament in Texas, could not be reached.

Ward has won the national amateur title twice and the British and Canadian championships once each.

Albions, Oak Bay Top Cricket Crowd

Oak Bay joined Albions at the head of the Victoria and District Cricket Association standings Sunday by scoring a four-wicket victory over Incogs at Windsor Park.

Albions opened the season at Beacon Hill Saturday with a 38-run triumph over Alcos.

Batting first, Incogs were all out for 123 and Oak Bay, getting 53 runs from Z. Woolfson and 32 from Graham Odgers, passed the Incogs total with only six wickets down.

Odgers paced the Oak Bay bowlers, taking four wickets for only six runs, while Reid Getz, who was top Incog bat with 41 runs, captured three Oak Bay wickets while yielding 26 runs.

MURDER TRIAL

KAMLOOPS — George Allen Thompson, 30, charged with murder in the shooting death of Wilber Edmund Nicholas of Magna Bay last Oct. 9, appeared in his own defence as his trial continued here Monday.

The trial, which started April 30, had been delayed several times as arguments were heard to determine whether testimony was admissible before a jury.

LOANS AGENCY REQUEST

VANCOUVER — The Retail Merchants' Association has asked Prime Minister St. Laurent to say at once whether the federal government intends to establish a retail business loans agency.

The question was contained in a telegram sent to the prime minister by David A. Gilbert of Winnipeg, general manager for Canada for the RMA. Mr. Gilbert made the announcement at a dinner meeting here Monday night.

Independent retailers want a yes or no answer right away, he said.

TRAFFIC ORPHANS HOME

VANCOUVER (CP) — A station wagon arrived in Vancouver this week, carrying two boys and bushels of toys and treasures.

The two boys, John and David Shoobridge of suburban Richmond, were returning home seven weeks after an accident in Aberdeen, Wash., which killed their parents and a brother. John, five, and David, one and one-half, still wearing heavy casts, made the trip lying on a mattress in the back of the borrowed vehicle.

But the people of Aberdeen and their guardian, W. J. Griffin, had done all they could to make the young patients cheerful.

Inco Metals at work in Canada

In the platinum refining process, low octane naphthas flow through a bed of tiny pellets containing approximately 0.5% platinum. Contact with the platinum speeds the chemical reaction that changes the low octane naphthas to high octane compounds — the basis of most modern anti-knock gasoline.

INCO PLATINUM helps produce high octane gasoline in Canada

Using one of the world's most precious metals—platinum—many of Canada's oil companies are producing high octane anti-knock gasoline more economically than ever before! That is because the platinum causes a catalytic reaction that changes low octane naphthas into high octane fuel, and does this with maximum yield of marketable products.

A substantial proportion of the platinum used in Canada's oil refineries is Inco Platinum, mined by Inco workmen right here in Canada.

Platinum is one of the seven precious metals present in the Sudbury ores in recoverable quantities.

In oil refineries and other important Canadian companies manufacturing chemical, electrical, dental and medical products, and jewelry, Inco Platinum helps provide jobs for Canadians and better products for you.

This is another way that Inco helps stimulate the growth and development of Canada's economy.

Passmore Fails in Bid To Quit Works Committee

Saanich Councillor Leslie Passmore tried for five minutes to resign as chairman of council's largest committee Monday night before being rescued by other councillors.

In the interim, Coun. George Austin was briefly the appointed chairman.

In all, it was close to a resumption of a long-time feud between Coun. Passmore and Reeve Arthur Ash.

Since January Coun. Passmore has been chairman of public works and fire and water committee, consolidated by Reeve Ash from a number of smaller committees under public works.

Never satisfied with the reeve's re-arrangement of committees, Coun. Passmore told the reeve Monday night he thought the new plan had failed.

"I want to be relieved of my responsibility," he said.

"I don't wish to resign, but I'm compelled to resign because I'm not giving the people of the department the attention they deserve."

He recommended council return to the former system of establishing committees.

20 ITEMS

The councillor said the unworkability of the system was shown by the fact he could not call a meeting any night this week, and there are 20 important items to be considered.

Various members of the committee were due at other meetings through the week, he pointed out, making it impossible to have a quorum at the public works meeting.

To solve the situation and prevent Coun. Passmore's resignation, Coun. S. W. Brock, chairman of Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee, offered to cancel a meeting scheduled for Tuesday night, enabling public works to have a quorum.

TRY AGAIN

Coun. Passmore said he would have another try at managing the huge committee.

He told the reeve: "Perhaps it's my fault . . . I can't call a meeting any night this week. Two nights a week are gone to other committees—every week."

"Nobody's blaming you," interjected Reeve Ash.

"There is no blame to the other members. If anyone is to blame, it's attached to me," Coun. Passmore went on.

COUNCIL FIRST

"The first consideration is our council and committee meetings, and these other committees should understand that," said the reeve.

The Greater Victoria centennial committee was one of those mentioned.

"I can't make it work out, Mr. Reeve," replied Coun. Passmore. The reeve then appointed Coun. Austin as committee chairman.

if I were chairman," said Coun. Austin.

Coun. Passmore remarked: "I think it would be in the best interests of the ratepayers if I resign."

"This certainly comes as a surprise to me. I've never been approached on it," the reeve said. Coun. Brock made his offer to cancel the beaches and parks committee meeting if it would help the situation.

"Is that satisfactory?" asked the reeve.

"I'll try some more; that's all right by me—and believe me, I'm trying," Coun. Passmore said.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Have you tried the ride that put bumps out of business?

Plymouth
Savoy
4-door
Sedan

Even if you can only spare a few minutes out of a busy day, by all means take a demonstration ride in a new Plymouth with Torsion-Aire suspension

It's downright wonderful... what a difference it makes when you get out of the ordinary and into a new Thrill-Power Plymouth with Torsion-Aire suspension.

Just take a beautiful Plymouth a few miles down one of those old bumpety-bump side roads and you'll see what we mean. It is an entirely new ride experience, because of Plymouth's remarkable Torsion-Aire suspension. It's like coasting along on a thick, velvety carpet. Because Torsion-Aire eliminates the jolts, jars and jounces you feel in other cars.

And your turning and braking feel entirely different, too. For Plymouth's Torsion-Aire suspension keeps it from "heeling over" when you round a corner... and keeps the nose of the car from "diving" when you stop. It's the most astonishingly level ride you've ever had.

We'll save the mechanical details about Torsion-Aire until you come in. But one thing we might mention is that this suspension system is a totally new idea in which old-fashioned coil springs are replaced by advance-design torsion bars. They cushion and stabilize your ride. Give it a new sports-car feel.

But why not get the rest of the story while you're flashing along in the lowest, sleekest Plymouth ever built? You'll love its big Thrill-Power "303" V-8... its new Torque-Flite automatic drive... its roominess and luxury—every inch of it.

Just dial for a demonstration in a new Thrill-Power Plymouth!

How about tomorrow? Phone us, and we'll bring a fresh, frisky new Plymouth to your door. Try its new V-8 or 6 Thrill-Power GO... Push-button Torque-Flite automatic drive... Total-Contact brakes... and all the other new Chrysler-engineered advances everyone's so excited about!

"GEE, THIS IS FUN!" Members of George Jay School's flutophone band, Karen Gung, John Wright and conductor Pat Temple, examine their first Greater Victoria Music Festival program. Their large ensemble played in the first class of the festival's first day this morning. Using a simple flute-type instrument, drum and other rhythmic effects, they earned a glowing adjudication from visiting judge, William D. Cole.

Music Festival Off to Good Start

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
Everything was auspicious for the start of the Greater Victoria Music Festival this morning. The sun shone, young competitors bubbled over with energy and enthusiasm, adjudicators were impressed and parents and friends rallied round in large numbers, demanding season tickets and programs.

Sessions opened simultaneously at 8 a.m. at First United Fellowship Hall for instrumental ensembles and solos; Metropolitan Church for school choirs; Central Junior High for folk dancing and St. John's War Memorial Hall for a junior piano class. With a break for lunch, this activity continued all day until past 4 p.m. Tonight's session consisting of junior and senior high school choral classes will be held in First United Fellowship Hall, Balmoral Road.

OFFICIAL OPENING

Official opening of the festival will take place Wednesday evening at Central Junior High when several top performances selected by adjudicators from the first two days' sessions will be presented. On this program there will also be two major open folk dance classes.

While the first two days of the festival are devoted to school participation in particular, the balance of the week also has adult highlights to offer, with oratoria and operatic classes scheduled.

Special evening concerts include the folk dancing display Wednesday, the honor performance school concert of choral, instrumental and folk dance highlights, and the Wednesday, May 15 grand windup when bursary and scholarship winners will perform. All these events will take place at Central Junior High School.

FIRST RESULTS

Results of this morning's sessions available at press time, were as follows:
Piano: Adjudicator, Hugh McLean: Sonata, 13 years and under; Gillian Gerry, 86; Joan Saxon, 84; Nana Fibiger, Patsy Loft and Edward Curran, tied, 83.

School choruses: Adjudicator, Wayne Hertz: Grade 6; Sir

Boats Damaged In Oak Bay Fire

Two small boats were slightly damaged and a motor-powered bilge pump destroyed when spilled gasoline caught fire at Oak Bay Boat House Monday at about 4:30 p.m.

One of the boats scorched was being pumped out at the time. No one was injured and a fire extinguisher was used to put out flames.

Fuel Dealer Wins Acquittal

A charge of false pretences against fuel deliveryman Sohan Singh was dismissed in city police court today when it was determined he made no pretence, false or otherwise.

John W. R. Gresham, 1903 Duchess, complained a load of furnace sawdust advertised as fir and for which he paid $24 was in fact largely cedar and hemlock.

He had seen an advertisement in a newspaper in February, made the order at Soke Fuel Co. the next day and a truck load of sawdust was subsequently delivered by Sohan Singh early in March.

Mr. Gresham said he had difficulty burning the sawdust in his furnace and finally gave up after consuming about 400 cubic feet of the order, which he later complained to the dealer was short of the 600 cubic feet he had ordered.

Karnel Singh, brother of the accused and owner of the firm, said sometimes a cedar or hemlock log will be run through the sawmill where sawdust is obtained, but that this is usually ignored because of its small quantity.

Where there are large amounts of hemlock and cedar in the mixture the sawdust is discarded, he told the court.

A forestry expert engaged by police to examine a sample of the sawdust order broke components down this way:

Cedar, 70 per cent; hemlock, 15 per cent; fir, 15 per cent. Pure fir sawdust sold by the firm was priced at $26, it was explained, but the mill run sawdust was lower because of the chance of a slight mixture.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said with regard to the accused: "He is an employee of the company. He made a delivery in the ordinary way and made no pretence whatsoever."

The deliveryman was defended by lawyer George Gregory.

Victoria Singer In Opera Final

Local baritone John Dunbar was one of five B.C. singers chosen today from a group of 19 competitors as finalists in vocal auditions sponsored in Vancouver by the San Francisco Opera Association.

Winner will be selected by Kurt Adler, San Francisco Opera's musical director, and flown to the city in June for a radio appearance as soloist with the San Francisco Opera.

Capt. Jim Taylor of Queen's Own Rifles will show slides and give a talk on Indo-China at a meeting of Glanford School and Home Association in Glanford School auditorium Wednesday at 8 p.m. Capt. Taylor served as a member of the military component, Canadian delegation, at an International Truce Commission in Indo-China last year.

6,800 Attend Jaycee Fair Opening Night

Junior Chamber of Commerce officials exulted today over a record-breaking first-night crowd of 6,800 at the Victoria Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition at Memorial Arena Monday.

"It's the biggest since the fair started 11 years ago," said George Geddie, fair committee chairman.

The Jaycees are aiming for a record 90,000 over the week-long run of the exhibition.

ACROBATS HIT

One of the main attractions at the fair was a performance of balancing feats by acrobat "The Great Valdon."

The 26-year-old Texan held a large crowd spellbound when he made a hand-stand on two soda bottles placed one on top of the other on a 16-foot lamp post.

A big attraction for both adults and children was a large handicraft display where people could see craftsmen and artists at work.

Artist Peggy Walton Packard drew on-the-spot portraits.

Craftsman Kas Nielson worked on wood-carvings, and the crowds were fascinated by the pottery making of Mrs. Ineke Vantriet.

FOR SCIENTISTS

Science-minded children were interested in the display of the Victoria branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, which included a huge telescope and various instruments for measuring the distance of stars.

The Royal Canadian Air Force displayed an ejection seat used on high speed jets, the YMCA a model of its summer camp at Glinz Lake, Sooke, and the Canadian Institute for the Blind a display of its handicrafts.

The fair will be open daily from 2 to 11 p.m.

Door prizes will be offered throughout the week.

Last night's prizes were an automatic washer won by W. L. Cairns, 2055 Goldsmith, and a portable TV set, won by M. Pedneault, 2916 Colquhoun.

RASSLE HASSLE

A "rasslin" hassle added excitement to the opening night of the Victoria Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition Monday.

At one stage, the midway tent housing the wrestling swayed, ballooned, and was near collapse as a crowd tried to see a "return bout" without paying for admission tickets.

As Jaycee fair-officials sort it out, here's the sequence: Pro wrestler "Eric the Great" challenged anyone to stay with him for seven minutes, with $30 at stake.

Victoria athlete Gordie Gordienko accepted the challenge, stayed the route, and was paid off.

Then the Great Eric issued a second challenge to Gordie, while the audience was filling out of the tent.

The audience tried to scramble back in for the second bout, the ticket takers objected, a fence was broken, ropes holding the tent were cut, and the second bout was cancelled.

No hits, no injuries, no second bout.

Rites Thursday For Leading Antique Authority

Mrs. Alice Maud Robertson, a leading Victoria authority on antiques, died in the Royal Jubilee Hospital today in her 80th year.

She was an active member of the Antique Dealers' Association in Victoria, president of the Spode Shop on Government Street and proprietor of Robertson's Antiques, 1031 Fort.

A resident of Victoria since 1923, Mrs. Robertson was also vice-president of the Soroptimist Club and a leading member of the B.C. Philatelic Society.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Margot Bowden, who resided with her at 3771 Haro Road, Cadboro Bay, and a son, Douglas F. Robertson, of Squilax, B.C.

Funeral services will be held at Hayward's Funeral Chapel Thursday at 3 p.m. Rev. William Allan officiating.

The body will be cremated.

One-Mill Boost In City Taxes

Business Levy Up 50% Rate Set at 45.5 Mills

By PETE LOUDON

Home taxes in Victoria will be increased one mill in 1957—2 per cent over last year.

The levy on city business is increased 50 per cent overall—but will affect merchants to varying degrees.

Total of $460,000 will be raised by business tax which replaces the trade licence system.

Some merchants will pay a great deal more than they paid in licence fees; some will pay about the same; a few may pay less.

These are main results of city council budget sessions which edged this morning with the setting of a 4½ mill rate.

In two and a half days of meeting, council slashed $118,164 from a provisional budget of $7,596,550. Largely through the new business tax, council increased the city revenue by $166,100.

Mayor Percy Scourrah expressed pleasure at the results. "Council was faced with a very difficult situation in holding the mill rate down."

"The city was faced with increased costs in salaries and wages, increased school costs and loss of revenue from cancellation of road and poll taxes."

"There was the unprecedented cost of our share in the underground wiring program. And we had to honor a promise of a $25,000 grant this year toward Royal Jubilee Hospital expansion."

Despite requests for grants totalling over $36,500, council set a maximum of $25,000 for gifts. Finance committee will study the list and make recommendations for disbursement later.

Most important session of the budget discussions occurred Monday afternoon when decision was reached on how much should be collected through the new business tax.

Ald. J. Donald Smith felt the tax should bring in $500,000 rather than the $460,000 figure suggested by Ald. E. D. McEwen, which was adopted.

Ald. Austin I. Curtis said as wages had increased 1½ mills, "the people of the whole area should be expected to pay (them). Pass this on to the people. The people should realize what labor costs them."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood and Ald. Arthur Dowell felt school cost increases should also be passed along to property owners.

"We were faced at first with what looked like a substantial increase in the mill rate. By careful budgeting and cutting where council felt it would do the least harm, we've been able to hold the increase to one mill."

"In my opinion council has done a good job in preparing the budget."

Friday, a mill rate increase of 4½ mills and a tax increase of 10 per cent was indicated. Two mills of this increase was cancelled out Monday by the decision to collect $160,000 more from city businesses than was collected last year in trade licenses, ($300,000).

The other 1½ mill reduction was effected mainly by slicing deeply into public works estimates.

A total of $105,000 was chopped from works altogether. About $95,000 was taken out

Woman's Body Found in Water Unidentified

Unidentified body of an elderly woman was taken out of Oak Bay at about 10 a.m. today by Oak Bay police.

It was estimated she had been in the water two to three days.

No Greater Victoria police have had reports of a missing woman fitting her description.

Police said the woman was between 80 and 85 years of age, slim build, about five feet, five inches tall, grey haired and wearing a black topcoat, black sequinned tunic, a light blue sweater, yellow blouse.

New Laundry Devices To Fight Labor Cost

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

For every dollar that Canadian and U.S. laundries take from customers 60 cents goes in labor costs, says C. Louis Dodge, president of the American Institute of Laundering, who is in Victoria today.

"Because of rising labor costs, the institute is now conducting intensive research into new mechanical methods of laundering," said Mr. Dodge in an interview at the Empress Hotel.

"This is the only way we can reduce laundry charges to the public."

SNOW-WHITE
Dapper, good-humored Mr. Dodge wears the snowiest of snow-white shirts as an emblem of his trade and operates his own laundry and dry-clean establishment at Fresno, Calif.

Last year he was elected national president of the American Institute of Laundering, which has its headquarters at Joliet, Illinois, and comprises a membership of 6,000 firms in the U.S. and Canada.

He believes the trend towards the household washing machine has been "halted" as housewives are finding it more convenient and almost as economical to send their weekly wash to the laundry.

HAPPIER WIVES
"Our argument is that the housewife can lead a happier, fuller life by turning her wash over to the expert," Mr. Dodge continued.

"Twenty-two per cent of her time is taken up with washing and ironing, and we maintain that home washing costs, including power and maintenance, are only 25 cents an hour less than laundry charges."

Mr. Dodge said three girls can wash and iron 100 shirts an hour in a modern laundry; with less friction on the collar than the shirt gets at home.

Modern laundry machinery, he adds, can wash, iron and fold 700 bed sheets an hour.

As for dry-cleaning, Mr. Dodge says the day when the laundryman wouldn't speak to the dry cleaner are over.

"Both are co-workers in a highly specialized field, and the modern dry-cleaner now has to be an expert chemist who knows how different fluids affect different fabrics."

Mr. Dodge was conducted over New Method Laundries Ltd., 947 North Park Street, today by Hugh Stephen, president.

Mr. Stephen says the laundry and dry cleaning industry is supporting between 500 and 600 employees in Greater Victoria with a total wage bill exceeding $1,000,000 a year.

Both are enthusiastic campaigners for commercial laundering on the grounds that it is cleaner and more hygienic.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—My mother used to tell me she had seen the great French actress Sarah Bernhardt in a play performed in Victoria. What year was that?

—Mrs. E. M. F.
A—"The Divine Sarah" made her first American tour in 1880 and during her career she made a number of other tours on this continent. It is impossible to say on which one your mother saw her. It may have been during her visit in January, 1913, when with the French actor Lou Tellegen as her leading man she appeared as Camille in the play by Dumas the Younger, a part in which she was famous. Though one of her legs had to be amputated she continued a full, active career on the stage. She died in Paris in March, 1923.

Invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Conciliation has been asked by Sheet Metal Workers International Association, Local 276, in negotiations with Victoria and Island sheet metal and roofing contractors.

Asked for the 125 members is a 72-cent hourly wage boost to $3 an hour, five paid statutory holidays and a health and welfare plan.

A proposed play park and pony rentals area, with facilities for a riding school for children, was referred to town planning commission by Saanich council Monday.

Application was made by Errol Thomas Hunter, 374 Sparton, to rezone the 8.85 acres at Patricia Bay highway and Haynes for the purpose.

History of B.C. over the last 100 years is illustrated in a film strip prepared by the provincial education department and the B.C. centennial committee.

Willard Ireland, provincial archivist, wrote the script and selected the pictures for the film, which will be shown in schools.

St. John Ambulance has designated Monday to Saturday, May 18, "Save a Life Week."

During the period free classes in the administration of artificial respiration will be conducted at meetings of various service clubs, PTAs and other community organizations.

B.C. education department has been given an honorable mention in a list of awards announced by Ohio State University for leading educational radio and television programs.

Recognition of the provincial department was made jointly with the CBC for the part it plays in the regular CBC school broadcasts. The B.C. department shares the program with education departments of other provinces.

Victoria Prayer and Healing Study Group will meet in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall Wednesday at 3 p.m.

Young Horsemen Planning First High School Show
Student horsemen of Mount View High School have arrangements well in hand for the first high school gymkhana ever staged on Vancouver Island.

They will put their mounts through their paces at a show on the high schools grounds, Carey Road, during the afternoon of June 12.

Veteran horseman Bob Shanks has agreed to be judge. Jerry Warshawski and Bob Henson, students at the school and well-known riders in Vancouver Island competitive events, are making arrangements for the show, with Frank Rendle, principal, acting as advisor.

"They are doing all the work," Mr. Rendle said today. "They have arranged a prize list, and plan to invite student riders from the other high schools of Greater Victoria to take part."

Mount View has at least 12 pupils who ride horses of their own, Mr. Rendle said.

Capt. Jim Taylor of Queen's Own Rifles will show slides and give a talk on Indo-China at a meeting of Glanford School and Home Association in Glanford School auditorium Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Capt. Taylor served as a member of the military component, Canadian delegation, at an International Truce Commission in Indo-China last year.

Fashion Dolls Will Appeal To the Teenage Daughters

By PENNY SAVER

So the "little girl" in the house has outgrown dolls! That really is a pity, because the older daughter is the one who will enjoy and appreciate the German-made dolls that are on sale in town. These dolls are long-legged beauties with top fashion wardrobes. Sports clothes, afternoon dresses and full-skirted evening gowns are styled to match ensembles in fashion magazines. The dolls have silky pony-tail hair-dos and the arms and legs move. Any girls interested in dress designing could use this interest as a good excuse for buying one of these dolls. Perfectly proportioned, the dolls are selling at $12.50.

An interesting note about these dolls is that they come complete with a music box stand to which they are attached. Like mannequins, the dolls turn to music, and show off the clothes. Blondes, brunettes and redheads are in the selection.

I know this isn't the day that I usually tell you about food and food prices, but I found something that I think will interest you. Would you like to buy bananas, oranges, apples or pears, ripe and good looking that are absolutely non-perishable? What a buy! Yes, you can wash them, pinch them, even drop them, and they'll not bruise or squash.

Of course, I wouldn't advise biting into one of these, for you're liable to lose a front tooth. They're just for show, but literally look good enough to eat. The banana has a few brown touches to it, and the apple is rather russet with deep red touches. The pear looks as if it were bursting with sweetness, and the orange is the thick-skinned kind that looks so easy to peel. Don't try, though. A very good thing about this fruit is that it's not waxed so that it's easily cleaned. Pop the fruit in a sudsy water, and then dry just as you would dishes.

They are priced at 89 cents and $1. Your dining room table can be gay and prettily centred all the time with these pieces.

For information about any of the items here in the column today or during past weeks, call me at 2-3131. I'll be glad to tell you where I shopped.

On Etiquette

Unseen method of paying dinner check:

I am a widow. The husband of a dear old friend is coming to town and I would like to take him to dinner in a fine restaurant to repay their hospitality. Could I take the check without embarrassing him?

Louise Davis answers:

When a man is with a lady,

he doesn't like to see her pay the check. So, rather than injure his manly pride, you can arrange with the head waiter to give you the check in private. But that can present an awkward situation, for even then he may inadvertently see the money transaction. It would be better not to take the chance. I suggest that you pre-arrange the deal. You would have to set up some kind of temporary credit system. Perhaps you can arrange with the proprietor to mail you a statement, or you can give him, for instance, a $20 bill and have him refund the balance by check. Since the head waiter will be expecting you, all you have to do is give your name. It would be simpler if you would invite another couple and entertain with a little dinner party in your own home.

Twins Receive Names

Barbara Marie and Joan Marie were the names given the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Beaubien at a baptismal ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral recently. Father R. Cunningham officiated. Godparents are Miss Patricia Hynes, Miss Patricia Sullivan, Mr. Joseph Longpre and Mr. Danny Maloney. Maternal grandparents are Mrs. J. S. Hynes and the late Dr. Hynes, and maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. M. Maloney, Kelowna. A reception followed at the home of the babies' parents at 1133 Empress Avenue.

40TH ANNIVERSARY

Money From Altrusa Tea To Assist Older Women

Last Saturday afternoon at Old Charming Inn, Oak Bay, a successful tea was held by the Altrusa Club of Victoria. The occasion marked the 40th anniversary of the founding of International Altrusa. More than 100 guests attended and enjoyed a fashion show of hats. Miss Effie Atkins was the commentator and members of the club acted as models.

The 28 small tea tables were centred with floral arrangements of bluebells and white lilac—blue and white being Altrusa colors. Presiding at the head tea table were Mrs. Ursula Slack, Mrs. Marie Cooper, Mrs. Ada Wood, Miss Mona Jewell and Miss Marion Bollingbroke. Receiving guests were Miss Jess Robinson and Mrs. Grace Morrow. Tea cups were read by Miss Robinson.

A sum of $100.10 was realized and will be added to the Founders' Fund, vocational aid project.

This fund provides gift grants of $50 to $250 to older women who need vocational training or other assistance to enable them to enter the job market profitably.

Delegate—Mrs. F. D. Jenkinson, 1636 Burton Avenue, has been named official delegate to the 43rd annual meeting of the Council of the Women's Missionary Society (WMS), being held in Runnymede Presbyterian Church, Toronto, May 13 to 17. The general theme will be "Worship the Lord." Many speakers prominent in the church, at home and abroad, will address the meetings.

Baby Boy Christened

Rev. E. M. Smiley officiated at the ceremony in Victoria Truth Centre recently when the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Paterson of Sooke received the names, James Howard. Following the service, friends and relatives enjoyed a luncheon at the home of the baby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paterson, Olive Street.

To Attend 60th Annual Gathering

Mrs. Dudley Markham, president of the provincial board of the Victorian Order of Nurses, and Mrs. W. Findlay, first vice-president of the Victoria board, left on Monday to fly to Ottawa, where they will attend the diamond jubilee annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada. Mrs. Markham will present a report on activities of the order in British Columbia.

Miss Audrey Price, a member of the local VON nursing staff, left last Friday for Ottawa, where she will attend the diamond anniversary meeting as a representative of the local staff. She will also attend a meeting of the Canadian Council of Nurses in Ottawa next Friday.

Quiet Wedding Solemnized

In a quiet ceremony in First United Church last Saturday morning, Rev. A. I. Higgins heard the wedding vows of Patricia Mary Martindale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Emery, 1508 Arrow Road, and Dr. Robert N. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Young, 4040 Telegraph Bay Road. Standing with the bride's parents in the ceremony performed in the church parlor were Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Hope. The groom, now an intern at Royal Jubilee Hospital, is a graduate of the University of British Columbia medical school.

At Graduation Dance

Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Anderson spent the weekend in Vancouver where they were guests at the Crofton House graduating dance. Their daughter, Miss Judith Anderson, is a member of the graduating class. Miss Anderson's escort for the evening was Mr. David Cook, Victoria.

Prior to the dance a dinner was held in Georgia Hotel for the graduating class and their escorts. Dr. and Mrs. Anderson attended a no-host dinner at the Vancouver Yacht Club. They returned to their home on Valdez Place in Victoria on Sunday evening.

Next Thursday, Dr. and Mrs. Anderson will again cross to Vancouver to present Miss Judith as a debutante at the Military Ball to be held in Hotel Vancouver on Friday evening. Accompanying them to the mainland will be Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Conn, who will be their guests at the ball.

Symphony Committee Returns Officers for Second Year

Mrs. Denis Humphries was returned as president of the women's committee to the Victoria Symphony Society in annual meeting held at the Queenwood home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Chisholm, Monday evening.

Other officers are Mrs. H. M. Edmonson, first vice-president; Mrs. E. Pearlman, second; and Mrs. H. Gilliland, treasurer, all returned for a second term; Mrs. R. Nickells, recording secretary; and Mrs. J. R. Hind, corresponding secretary.

Chairman of the nominating committee was Mrs. Chisholm, assisted by Mrs. R. Dowling, Mrs. H. Burnett, Mrs. J. Gillespie and Mrs. Mellis Mair.

Treasurer's report given by Mrs. Gilliland gave receipts for the year as $5,385.44. Disbursements showed $5,000 given to the symphony society and balance announced was $259.24.

SEASON TICKETS

In her report on box office receipts, given at the annual meeting of the women's committee to Victoria Symphony Society, Monday evening, Mrs. G. A. R. Stelek said that 1,435 season tickets were sold last year — the equivalent of one full house. Sale of new season's tickets, she said, already totaled 1,041 (283 for Sundays and 758 for Monday nights). At this time last year only 850 had been sold.

Sylvia Hooper, Dr. J. F. Higgins Wed in Lovely Ceremony in East

A wedding of interest in Victoria took place recently in the Church of St. John the Evangelist in London, Ont., when Miss Sylvia Ann Hooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hooper, 3520 Richmond Road, Victoria, became the bride of Dr. John Farquhar Higgins, Westminster Hospital, London, Ont.

Archdeacon C. W. Foreman officiated at the ceremony performed in a setting of spring blossoms and pink and white snapdragons. Organist, Ivor S. Brake, played traditional music by Bach and Handel.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a bouffant gown fashioned of misty white nylon tulle and imported Chantilly lace over layers of net and bridal satin. Panels of lace enhanced the very full tulle skirt which billowed out in a wide sweep. The sculptured lace bodice featured a softly scooped neckline framed with floral lace appliques delicately jewelled with sequins. The long graceful sleeves tapered to slender points. A coronet of white iridescent sequins held her chapel length veil. Her pearl necklace and earrings were a gift of the groom, and completing her ensemble, the fair-haired bride carried a cascade of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Ann Marling, Victoria, was the only attendant. She wore a gown of forget-me-not blue crystal satin fashioned on princess lines. The full flaring ballet length skirts were offset by a slender fitted bodice, topped by softly draped diaphanous nylon chiffon enhanced by a tailored self bow.

The gown was completed with a bouquet of bebe chrysanthemums and forget-me-nots. In her hair she wore a halo of white daisies and green leaves.

The groom, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Higgins, Gracious Pond Farm, Chobham, Surrey, England, had Dr. F. G. Montfort as best man. Usher was D. Richardson.

Mrs. Hooper, in a pink lilac crystal crepe sheath dress with cummerbund of matching applique lace, matching hat and corsage of sweetheart rosebuds assisted the just-weds in greeting guests at a reception held in the London Hotel.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake

Buttle Lake Timber Goes on Sale May 23

Sale of the first 3,000,000 feet of timber from clearing operations at Buttle Lake will take place May 23, the B.C. Power Commission said today.

The timber will be sold at auction by the B.C. Forest Service in parcels of 1,000,000 board feet. Auction sales will be held monthly until all the timber has been sold, the Commission statement said.

Advertisements outlining place and conditions of sale will be placed by the Forest Service. The timber is being collected in booms along the shore of Buttle Lake, and prospective purchasers will be able to view the parcels at the holding grounds at the north end of the lake.

A hauling contract has been let to the Cattermole-Tretheway Contractors Ltd., and purchasers will take delivery of the timber made up in flat rafts at the tie-up ground of the Elk River Timber Co. at Gowlland Harbor, on Quadra Island.

The order-in-council under which the hydro-electric development was authorized stipulates the commission is entitled to the proceeds of

3 Hospitalized In Car Crashes At Port Alberni

ALBERNI (CP)—Three persons are still in hospital following two highway accidents here during the weekend, when four cars were extensively damaged. Lyle Hopps and Daniel Meyers are reported by RCMP to have been the drivers of vehicles which collided near Berry's Store Saturday night. Hopps was released from West Coast General Hospital after treatment for cuts and bruises, while a passenger in his car, Harry Williams, who suffered concussion, is still detained.

Vehicles driven by Dennis Hillman, Port Alberni, and Philip Waines, Alberni, collided on Sprout Lake Road Sunday evening. Hillman suffered a fractured knee and Miss Leslie Chisholm, a passenger in his car, received face lacerations. Both are in West Coast General Hospital and are reported in good condition.

School Costs Boost Tax Rate At N. Cowichan

DUNCAN—North Cowichan Municipality has approved a budget of $603,963 and a tax of 10 1/2 mills for general municipal purposes, but must increase rates to cover increasing school costs.

In that portion of the sprawling municipality in Cowichan District 65, the rate will rise from 14 to 17 mills to cover a boost in costs of $16,713.

TWO MILLS UP

Residents in that portion of the municipality in Ladysmith District 67 will see the school tax increased from 15.5 to 17.5 mills to provide an additional $3,212.

Reeve C. A. P. Munson said what could have been a six-mill increase was absorbed by the use of $31,180 in reserve funds.

The week of May 18-25 has been proclaimed as "Forest Conservation Week" by the provincial cabinet.

Danger of forest fires and the disastrous results they can have on B.C.'s most valuable industry will be emphasized. Officials estimated that more than 60 per cent of the forest fires occurring in the province each year are caused by carelessness.

Slash Fire At Jordan River

Smoke pouring from a slash set by Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Co. Ltd. at Jordan River was seen by hundreds of persons in Greater Victoria Monday evening.

Company officials assured that it was well guarded, and had been set deliberately to clear ground of the rubbish and debris accumulated during logging operations. Usually such burning is done in the fall, but if conditions are favorable, it can be done in the spring.

DRIVER REMANDED

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—S. J. McLeod of Kelowna, and formerly of Dawson Creek, was remanded in custody for eight days when he appeared in police court Monday on a charge of criminal negligence.

McLeod was charged following the traffic death of Lorne Swisher of Vernon. Swisher died in a highway accident here Saturday night.

communities on Vancouver Island. Vancouver Island Gas Co. holds a 20-year renewable franchise to distribute gas in the city of Nanaimo.

"Van-Tor Oil and Explorations are following developments very closely in the plans to bring natural gas to Vancouver Island from the Mainland," Mr. Barchard said.

Acquisition of majority interests gives Van-Tor 30,000 of the 171,500 issued shares of Vancouver Island Gas and $250,000 in bonds.

Gorge Park Project Centennial Proposal

Development of the 106-acre Gorge Park as a go-it-alone centennial project was recommended to Esquimalt Council Monday night.

To tie in with B.C. centenary the park should be named "Gorge Centennial Park," and feature a museum of B.C. industrial equipment in an open-air pavilion, Russell E. Potter and G. H. Sammon, centennial committee representatives for Esquimalt, suggested.

Total cost of the project would be approximately $10,000, Mr. Sammon said.

The proposal will be considered at a future public meeting in the municipality to discuss centennial projects.

Residents Ignored On Beach Plan

Taxpayers in the Willows Beach area had no say in the proposed development of the area by the Capital Improvement District Commission, a delegation told Oak Bay Council Monday night.

The CIDC has approved a seawall, promenade and parking facilities.

Hershel A. Smith, 2770 Thorpe Place, spokesman for a delegation that attended council, said area residents took a "very serious view" of projected road and parking allowances.

"Something has gone astray," he said.

Taxpayers had no voice in the plan, he charged. G. F. Dunn, 2750 Thorpe Place, asked council if the CIDC approval of plans was final.

NO AMENDING

Reeve Fred Norris said council could not amend the plans except in minor matters.

Justin Harbord, 2700 Beach, a delegation member, said "we are not much impressed that some government (provincial) is giving us $46,000 to ruin our beach. I'm speaking for the majority."

The beach is of first interest to Oak Bay residents, not visitors from elsewhere, he said.

The complaint was received and filed.

STORE SURVEY

Council decided to circulate a request asking all municipal merchants if they favored an all-day Monday closing rather than Wednesday afternoon, as requested by 53 signatories in a recent petition to council.

About 20 other merchants are to be heard from.

Legal opinion will be sought on a proposed wooden frame addition to Oak Bay Junior High School which clashes with existing building by-laws stating reinforced concrete must be used.

Oak Bay Town Planning Commission secretary, A. S. Musgrave, brought to council's attention recommendation that the municipal share of the centennial grant, $17,000, be invested on an annual yield basis for a $750 perpetual scholarship to be awarded an Oak Bay youth first-year university study.

The suggestion will be decided in committee.

AA (Don't Miss)

BB (Worthwhile)

B (For Rainy Days)

C (To put in time)

(BB) "TOP SECRET AFFAIR" (Capitol)—Any working newspapermen worthy of the name would rather be caught looting a till than have to own up to deliberately writing a story that was not factually correct. In his mind the robbing of the till would be lesser of the crimes.

Yet in "Top Secret Affair" Susan Hayward, owner of a revered national U.S. weekly magazine, is quite happy to prevent war hero general Kirk Douglas from getting a high Washington post through the expediency of writing a pack of distortions about him in her periodical.

FOR THE PURPOSE of digging up the dirt she invites him to her Long Island mansion purportedly to write a complimentary cover story on him. Then she surrounds him with reporters and photographers whose cameras are concealed on key chains and in wrist watches.

Eventually she takes him out on the town, tries to get him in his cups (but succeeds only in getting "light herself"), seduces him into joining a rock 'n' roll group, then singing with a jazz combo. And for the edification of her readers, she eventually trips him into an undignified pratfall.

But no matter how hard she tries, the general always emerges the officer and gentleman even to the point where he has to rescue her in her own pool after she woefully falls off the high board in evening dress.

LONG BEFORE THIS, however, the customer is up to what is happening. Unscrupulous Susan has fallen in love with old "Iron Pants." In fact she's just about to scrap the entire idea of putting the journalistic finger on the man when he informs her that marriage has no place in the scheme of dedicated generals. Needless to say, the article is printed and the whole affair winds up before a Senate hearing.

HERE AND THERE, there are funny incidents, such as Douglas teaching Susan judo, also one or two of the pool scenes. But mostly the situations are contrived and so is the humor. What was supposed to be the unexpected becomes the expected and once that happens high comedy must settle for the occasionally amusing.

NOW SHOWING "LEAVE HER TO HEAVEN"

Starring Gene Tierney, Cornell Wilde, Jeanne Crain, Vincent Price
When Ben Ames Williams wrote the famous book "Leave Her to Heaven" it was acclaimed as one of the most outstanding dramatic novels of the day. The film, made of this story is presented in the same dramatic form and force and is a story of romance with its accompanying love and hate. Portrayed by a top cast of outstanding players it is presented in vivid Technicolor and excellent photography. If it is axiomatic that a good book makes a good movie then you are sure to enjoy this outstanding picture. Well recommended.

Hearing Set

Public hearing on rezoning of two properties in Esquimalt will be held at the municipal hall Tuesday, May 21, at 7 p.m.

H. L. McQuade wants lots at Esquimalt Road and Fernhill rezoned from residential to apartment to permit construction of two four-room apartment buildings to cost about $32,000.

Firm of Jackson, Baugh Allan and Russ wants a Comerford Street lot rezoned from residential to garage.

ASTROLOGICAL RECAST

WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1957
(Author of the new "Astrology and You")

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Morning finds matters associated with diet, apparel, labor, supplies, pets, garden, car, correspondence, etc., all easily attended to. Get busy on them. P.M. one of those times to refuse to go off on tempting tangent. Finish whatever seems dreary.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—A.M. brings chance to get yourself in perfect condition, to let others see you are able to evade, charm and delight whoever is near you. Get hobbies in good shape, arrange entertainment interests. P.M. be economical. Don't spend unwisely.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—See your own residence, conditions with those beneath your roof. It is made more harmonious during early part of the day. Then you can contact outside associates to see where they stand with you. Keep co-operative or you have real trouble.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Finish those huddles

with all close companions, do errands and shopping, complete correspondence during morning. Then afternoon finds you eager to get away from usual routines to new conditions. Wait for more favorable moment.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Bring your ambitions, ideas down to a workable, material basis early today. Let others see you have their welfare at heart by being very practical. Late you want to have fun and are willing to pay bigger price for it than it's worth. Don't.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—This morning you can look at yourself and really change whatever you do not like in either personal appearance or health matters. Then think out what may be interfering with happiness, concord at home and change now. It's up to you!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Ridding yourself early

of all those anxieties, worries that merely require some labor on your part, gets fine morning results. Then after noon you find it necessary to guard your tongue against snide remarks and to use care in motion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Influential friend

would see your point early if you take trouble to contact and state just what you want. Stop talking around in circles. Then p.m. brings relief because some material matter has not been ironed out. Be very conscientious.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—A.M. fine for whatever has to do with worldly matters. Add touch of added excitement, precision to any public, civic, career task. P.M. apt to feel you are not making the headway you'd like. Don't fret. Plug along and all's well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—You can find that data you need early at the newspaper, periodicals, TV, radio, labor or trade journals of your choice. After noon try yourself in the necessary labor to perfect the new interests that are absorbing to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Spend morning

deciding how you can improve relations of a practical nature with associates, paying bills, looking after accounts, studying reports, attending Social Security unemployment, etc. matters. P.M. avoid extravagant friend.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Lots of odds and ends require that you be more exact in dealing with influential individuals. Talk matters out with them during morning. Then tonight be sure you side-step battle brewing, or in motion, between official and partner.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY...

Wednesday's child is one of those meticulous youngsters who will like everything to be in its right place and who, even as a youngster, will be neat and careful to put apparel and toys, etc. in drawers. Be sure you early teach that details are all right, but that it's wise to have a reason and motive for having everything perfect instead of just fussing for fussing's sake! Fine for work connected with clothing, cleanliness, writing, prophylactics, healing and/or laboratory, research vocations.

Area Police to Prod Slow-Poke Drivers

Action to curb traffic snarling slow drivers on main roads in and around Victoria is planned by four police departments following request of Victoria Automobile Club.

The menace of slow-poke motorists is especially evident on Patricia Bay Highway, the club says.

Existing legislation covers the slow driver who restricts and impedes other traffic on streets and highways, but for the smaller police departments the problem lies in enforcement.

Saanich Chief Bert Pearson said his department is aware of the "Sunday driver" hazard and would give it as much attention as possible.

"Our problem is how to enforce it," he said.

"We only have about three traffic men per shift," and these generally work in widely-separated areas of the sprawling municipality.

Victoria's John Blackstock said he has instructed his traffic division to enforce the Motor Vehicles Act with regard to slow drivers and road-hogs, but cautions the best guide is common sense.

Under ideal conditions, there is no need for drivers to hold up normal flow of traffic, he said.

Slow drivers constitute an accident menace, Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harverson of "E" Division headquarters, RCMP, said in reply to the auto club letter.

Diesel Probe Resumes At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Five major European railways operate diesel locomotives without firemen in yard service and carry no more than two men in the cab in freight service, the royal commission investigating the CPR diesel issue was told Monday.

The testimony came from R. A. Emerson, Montreal, vice-president in charge of CPR operation and maintenance, as the commission resumed its hearings following an Easter recess since April 17.

Saanich Transfers Cash for Hall Job

First reading of a by-law to transfer $95,000 from Saanich tax sale lands fund to a municipal hall addition fund passed council Monday with only a formal "nay" from Reeve Arthur Ash.

He has promised to oppose the move wherever possible unless the whole question of building a hall addition gets the consent of taxpayers.

Estimated cost of erecting additional office space, a council chamber and police department quarters, plus renovation of the existing hall is about $225,000, architects say.

Balance of the money, $130,000, would be taken from revenue surplus, councillors plan. At present there is $96,706 in the tax sale lands fund.

Hollywood Actor Missing in Munich

MUNICH, West Germany (CP)—Police searched Monday for Timothy Carey, 31-year-old Hollywood movie actor missing here since Sunday night. A Bavarian movie company with which Carey is working said he was last seen in a Munich nightclub. Carey is in the cast of Path of Glory, being filmed here with Kirk Douglas and Adolphe Menjou.

Critical Shortage In Housing Predicted by Low

(From Times News Services)

Social Credit put on its biggest political rally of the federal campaign in Vancouver Monday night, and 2,500 persons filled Georgia Auditorium to hear National Leader Solon Low and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

In the last major address of his three-day B.C. tour, Mr. Low said that next winter the housing shortage brought on by the federal government's tight money policies will bring about "the most critical social problem that this country has ever faced."

Premier Bennett spoke mostly on Columbia River power and charged that the federal offer of financial aid for public development was a "red herring."

(At a press conference in Victoria earlier in the day Mr. Bennett said he was prepared to accept outright grants or long-term, low-interest loans from Ottawa.)

The premier battled hecklers throughout his talk, with his usual enthusiasm.

When Mr. Bennett said the provincial government was giving some $2,000,000 to Vancouver residents under its home-owners' dividend, a heckler shouted: "Where did you get the money?"

The premier replied: "That is not the question. The question is, where did the money go before we came to power?"

Mr. Low was interrupted less often by catcalls. He was given fairly enthusiastic applause at some points in his address and afterward about half of those present gave him a standing ovation.

Mr. Low said this would be disclosed when and if contents of telegrams sent the United Kingdom by Mr. St. Laurent were made public.

Mr. Pearson's denial came hard on the heels of denials from Victoria's Frank Fairley, MP in the last Parliament, and Alastair Fraser, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

"This... is totally inaccurate," said Dr. Fairley, Victoria candidate, and Mr. Fraser, candidate for Esquimalt-Saanich.

A statement by the Liberal candidates read:

"In the House of Commons Mr. St. Laurent was asked if he would make public correspondence between himself and the prime minister of the United Kingdom at that time.

"He stated he had been in communication with the U.K. prime minister suggesting that it would be premature to say there is any likelihood of an East-West disarmament agreement."

He said on his return from Europe that the position of the West and Russia in the United Nations disarmament sub-committee is "getting a little closer but there is an awful lot to do yet."

Mr. Pearson attended the NATO council meeting in Bonn last week. He conferred with officials of his department for two days in London.

AUSTRALIAN 'PIRATES' CAPTURE U.S. CARRIER

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Ten Sydney university students in pirate dress boarded the U.S. aircraft carrier Bennington before reveille today. They climbed unchallenged to the bridge and sent 2,500 American officers and sailors to battle stations by sounding the general alarm.

It was more than five minutes before the ship's company realized they were victims of a prank.

'NOT A WORD OF TRUTH IN IT'

Pearson Denies Low's Charge On Suez Crisis

External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson in Ottawa today gave an unqualified denial to a statement on the Suez crisis made in Victoria Monday by Solon Low, national Social Credit leader.

He told the Times:

"There is not a word of truth in it... I am surprised that a leader of any Canadian political party should make such a statement."

Mr. Low said at a press conference in Victoria that Prime Minister St. Laurent last year threatened to withdraw Canada from the Commonwealth if Britain and France didn't stop the Suez invasion within 48 hours.

Mr. Low said this would be disclosed when and if contents of telegrams sent the United Kingdom by Mr. St. Laurent were made public.

Mr. Pearson's denial came hard on the heels of denials from Victoria's Frank Fairley, MP in the last Parliament, and Alastair Fraser, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

SUN WILL REMAIN; MONDAY HOTTEST DAY

Ol' Sol, who has been beaming at Victoria the past few days, will continue his warm good smile at least another 24 hours.

Stars will glow tonight and Wednesday temperatures will range between 48 and 68 degrees.

Monday was the hottest this year—71 degrees at 1.30 p.m.

Vancouver Island's most torrid place was Nanaimo where a top temperature of 75 degrees was recorded at Cassidy Airport.

Revolutionary Industry Revision Takes Power From Kremlin Bureaucrats

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev today proposed the early abolition of more than 20 Soviet ministries in Moscow as part of a plan to revolutionize Soviet production and management.

The plan represents the biggest revision of Soviet economy since Stalin collectivized the farms nearly 30 years ago.

In a speech before a joint session of both chambers of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet (parliament) the Communist party first secretary outlined the new economic decentralization plan which will produce the biggest economic shakeup in Russia since the death of Lenin in 1924.

IMMEDIATELY

The 20 ministries concerned represent more than one-third of all Soviet industrial administrations centered in Moscow.

Khrushchev said the reorganization of management should not be dragged out. It should be effected by the end of next month.

Khrushchev said the plan provides for setting up 92 national economic councils, which would assume the major function of planning and co-ordinating output. The party leader also called for an intensified war against bureaucracy.

UNPRECEDENTED

The rapid growth of Soviet industry and "unprecedented scope of construction," he said, make indispensable the further improvement of management methods.

"But we must not be naive," Khrushchev added. "We must bear in mind that reorganization by itself does not kill bureaucracy as such, the bureaucrats will not disappear."

"That is why we must not relax but strongly intensify the struggle against all kinds of bureaucratic institutions."

AFFECTS 40 MILLIONS

If instituted, the plan will affect some 300,000 state enterprises and 40,000,000 workers. It is based on Russia's long-range design to outstrip the United States in per capita production in an "historically short period."

Khrushchev's proposals call for a swing away from "Stalinist" centralization in which control of production was concentrated in the hands of powerful policy-making Moscow ministries whose directives were carried out by a bureaucratic network in the 15 republics forming the Soviet Union.

Dr. Fairley said he was present in the House during the debate, and it was made clear, both by Mr. St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson "that at no time did Canada ever suggest withdrawal from the Commonwealth, but that the policy of Canada has consistently been to hold the Commonwealth together."

Subsequent actions by Mr. Pearson at the United Nations and elsewhere, he went on, confirm that Canada's sole concern is to prevent any weakening of Commonwealth ties.

Israeli Liner Searched for Bomb

LONDON (AP)—Police searched the new Israeli liner Theodor Herzl today after receiving an anonymous telephone call that a bomb had been planted aboard. A frogman inspected the hull.

The search began only a hours before the 8,250-ton ship was due to leave for Haifa on her maiden voyage. Police allowed passengers to go aboard.

First of Protest Meetings Decides On Ultimatum Move

A provincial-wide protest by B.C. government employees may result in strike action if they do not get satisfaction from the government this month on their request for higher wages.

More than 1,000 members of the B.C. Government Employees' Association Monday night at Vancouver voted to serve an ultimatum on the government calling for a satisfactory answer to wage increase requests by the end of May.

If the answer is not forthcoming, they will take a secret ballot of all employees on whether they wish to strike.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, whose department controls provincial civil servants, today declined comment.

"The same action will be considered at meetings of all our 46 local branches this week," H. A. Carney, secretary of the Victoria branch, said today.

Monday's protest meeting in Vancouver was attended by Lower Mainland branches of the association—Vancouver, New Westminster, Essondale and Woodland School.

"We expect the ultimatum issue will be backed up by all of our 11,000 members," Mr. Carney said.

"Provincial employees are really fed up because the MLAs and the cabinet voted themselves more money this year although the cabinet refused to give raises to government employees."

Attending the Nanaimo meeting next Friday will be delegates from Victoria, Courtenay, Alberni, Duncan and Nanaimo.

Leading the Victoria delegation will be executives Larry G. Huck, Miss Joan Gower, H. Gordon Moore and H. A. Carney.

"Provincial employees are really fed up because the MLAs and the cabinet voted themselves more money this year although the cabinet refused to give raises to government employees."

Attending the Nanaimo meeting next Friday will be delegates from Victoria, Courtenay, Alberni, Duncan and Nanaimo.

IN SUPREME COURT

B.C.'s Remarriage Ban Challenged

OTTAWA (CP)—Counsel for British Columbia today asked the Supreme Court of Canada to uphold a two-month ban on remarriage following a divorce in the province.

The provincial ban prohibits either party in a divorce from remarrying within the 60-day period during which an appeal against the divorce decree can be launched.

The lower courts in B.C. have declared the prohibition invalid on the ground the provincial legislature may only pass laws governing the solemnization of marriage.

The appeal deals with the case of Mrs. Emmy Gudrun Densmore of Vancouver, who claims her marriage to Andrew William Densmore, performed in Edmonton, Jan. 19, 1949, is invalid. The marriage was performed within two months of her divorce in Cranbrook, B.C., from Albert Robert Douglas Helms, Nov. 27, 1948.

Mrs. Densmore asked the B.C. Supreme Court to declare her marriage invalid but her case was dismissed, a decision that was upheld in a 3-to-2 decision by the B.C. Court of Appeal.

FROM ENGLISH LAW

W. G. Burke-Robertson of Ottawa, counsel for the attorney-general of B.C., argued that the prohibition stems from the English Divorce Act of 1857 which was carried forward in B.C. through a provision of the constitution.

However, the prohibition was inactive, Mr. Burke-Robertson said, until 1937 when Parliament gave the B.C. Court of Appeal power to hear divorce appeals.

He argued that a law adopted by the provincial legislature in 1888 implied that the Supreme Court of B.C. could hear divorce appeals. The attorney-general of the province intervened in the case, originally started by Mrs. Densmore.

In the Supreme Court the attorney-general for Canada is intervening to argue that if the prohibition stems from old English divorce laws it is constitutional. But if it depends on provincial legislation it is invalid and outside the powers of the legislature. The case is continuing.

there is no limit to Ottawa's help towards building whatever is agreed upon, but we are going to have some say in the matter."

In his first election campaign speech in the Coast-Capilano constituency where he is seeking re-election, Mr. Sinclair said the federal government would not hand over such a large sum of money—a figure of $300,000,000 has been mentioned—without having something to say about how it would be handled.

He mentioned the possibility that Ottawa would consider "doing some of the work ourselves" if B.C. approves.

In his original statement in Vancouver on March 25, when he outlined the federal offer, Mr. Sinclair said:

"Such assistance is not indirect, by way of subsidies, grants or guarantee of bonds, but by direct participation either in Crown companies or federal Crown companies doing specific sections of the development."

BUY OUT

"Since this project will unquestionably be self-liquidating, the provincial government can over the years buy out the federal government's interests in the usual way."

In disclosing at a press conference Monday that B.C. was ready to accept "substantial" outright grants or loans, the premier would not say whether that meant the provincial gov-

Euratom Atomic Energy Pool Details Set

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—A top-priority program to usher in the atomic age in Europe and so end dependence on Middle East oil was submitted today to the six "Euratom" countries.

The report, entitled A Target for Euratom, was drawn up at the request of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands—the countries which are planning to link up in a European atomic energy pool with United States, Canadian and British help.

The report, written by Louis Wurm of France, Franz Eitel of West Germany and Francesco Giordani of Italy, sets a target of 15,000,000 kilowatts of nuclear power for the next 10 years.

It says this "ambitious" program will call for immediate action, and for co-operation with Britain, America and Canada.

It warns that if industry in the Euratom countries does not embark on a big-scale atomic program now, it will soon be unable to face competition, and imports of other energy sources, mostly Middle East oil, will rise to "intolerable heights."

development of the Columbia.

"You can surmise what you like," he told reporters.

Mr. Bennett spoke further on the issue at a Social Credit rally in Vancouver Monday night.

He accused the federal government of using a "political dodge" in its offer.

Officially Ottawa has not offered to help in developing the Columbia, he said. There had not been a "single letter" to his office from Prime Minister St. Laurent or any other federal minister.

Meanwhile, CCF Leader Robert Strachan claimed that the premier's "pride and prejudice got the better of him."

"If he were really interested in public development of the Columbia he would have made arrangements to call on the prime minister while he was here."

DOUBTFUL

Mr. Strachan was doubtful of the premier's statement he was prepared to accept some form of federal aid.

"He (Bennett) still won't say whether he favors public power," the Opposition leader said.

"He says he'd like federal assistance, but leaves up in the air the question of public versus private power. All this knowing full well the federal offer is tied to development of the Columbia as a public power project."

due, more intensive immigration program, while on the other hand this same federal government with its "tight money" policy has reduced the construction of homes in Canada to less than 50 per cent of last year's figure—and thrown a great many people out of work in doing so.

Premier Bennett criticized the campaign tactics used by Prime Minister St. Laurent on Vancouver Island over the weekend, saying: "The people are intelligent. They don't want baby kissing everywhere. They want public men to discuss public business."

He said Canadians "are not going to bite for the taffy that the Liberals are offering them," and "a government whose policy is to check prosperity has no right to exist in Canada."

Referring to what he called the "measly" $6 increase in old age pensions Mr. Bennett said: "Any government that would do that should be thrown out of office."

The premier said that early in its tenure of office the Social Credit government asked the federal administration to co-operate in developing B.C.'s natural resources and in extending the PGE northward.

"We received no co-operation at all," he said. Prior to the present federal election campaign Resources Minister Lesage "would not say a word" about helping B.C. develop the Columbia. Now the Liberals were making promises.

Mr. Low was made an honorary chief of the Burrard Indian tribe at the Vancouver rally.

The honor was bestowed by Tes-Wan-Nough, chief of the Burrard nation, after Mr. Low had been escorted into the hall by about a dozen Burrards, in full Indian dress and war paint, to the beat of drums and native chants.

Mr. Low was given the tribal name of "Big Brother."

A high point of the installation came when Mr. Low took part in the Indians' ritual thanksgiving dance while his "subjects" beat tom-toms and chanted and a group of comely Indian maidens smiled approvingly.

"Big Brother" passed up a chance to kiss the maidens on grounds he was too puffed after the dance. But he noted: "Mr. St. Laurent goes around kissing babies—look what he's missing."

At a Social Credit banquet in Victoria at noon Monday, Mr. Low predicted the CCF party will "die a natural death within a very short time."

"Within 10 years you will find a real two-party system of government, with Social Credit on one side and all the others on the other side," Mr. Low said.

"Then when the people get tired of one they can turn to the alternative—something they haven't been able to do up to now because both parties (Liberals and Conservatives) have the same policies."

Pensioners Below Poverty Borderline

The national Socred leader said the federal government had failed to "acknowledge the fact that many thousands of our old age pensioners are living below the borderline of poverty."

Hitting out at federal subsidies for cultural development in Canada, Mr. Low said:

"It is inexcusable since we are living in a country that produces thirty billion dollars' worth of goods and services a year and in the period that could be the greatest of our history it seems we can afford countless luxuries and non-essential expenditures in our national budget."

"We can afford to set aside fifty million dollars for culture, which may include teaching the Indian to ride side-saddle."

To avoid any misunderstanding, Mr. Low added:

"There is no group representing the people as a whole that is more aware of the value of cultural development and wholesome cultural activities than the Social Credit movement."

Social Credit believes that culture cannot be bought and sold, but must "spring spontaneously from within the individuals in our country and cannot be forced on a nation by a group of eggheads."

"The present national policy amounts to a subsidy for mediocrity."

Mr. Low summed up: "The treatment of the old-age pensioner in all parts of Canada except the Social Credit provinces exemplifies the kind of thinking that now controls our federal government."

"There is no problem about finding money for a spending binge on art, literature, ballet and soulful singers, on mediocre actors, and untalented playwrights, but there is not sufficient money available to provide the bare basic standard of living that our senior citizens require."

A Social Credit government at Ottawa would immediately raise the basic pension to $60 a month, supplemented in cases of need by an additional $20 grant if matched by the provinces for a total pension of $100.

Mr. Low flew from Vancouver today to Regina, where he will address an evening rally.

By coincidence, Prime Minister St. Laurent is also speaking at a Liberal meeting in the Saskatchewan capital.

"I don't know how that happened," Mr. Low said Monday. "We certainly didn't plan it that way."

The Social Credit leader added that his party arranged their meeting first.

For PM Stir Controversy

ABOARD THE ST. LAURENT TRAIN (CP)—A controversy has appeared in Alberta on the question of whether school children should be asked to turn out to greet Prime Minister St. Laurent on his current election campaign.

Some teachers say they should. Others maintain there should be no compulsion; that Mr. St. Laurent is not making his tour as a statesman but as a politician and that children should not be asked to turn up at political rallies.

Children have shown up everywhere on his western tour. Some were brought by their teachers; others by their parents.

But one teacher at the resort town of Jasper Monday viewed the situation from a different light.

Schoolteacher H. T. R. Gilmore, 59-year-old war veteran, said:

"We were ordered to bring the children here by the school board though some of the teachers protested. I don't think children should have to put in compulsory attendance at a political meeting."

"If they bring children out here for one of the political leaders, I hope they will do the same for all the others. Otherwise, it would be unfair."

J. E. R. Fisher, chairman of the Jasper school board, said that the board had not ordered the school children to greet the prime minister.

He said the board merely "gave permission for the children to be paraded to the station."

New Pioneering Era Diefenbaker Pledge

SHAWVILLE, Que. (CP)—A new pioneering age, focussed on Canada's North, has been promised by John Diefenbaker if a Progressive Conservative government is elected June 10.

Canada's future is in the North, the Conservative leader told some 500 persons in the high school auditorium here Monday night as he wound up a one-day tour of Pontiac-Témiscamingue constituency in the Upper Ottawa Valley.

Earlier, as he moved through this farming area, Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a luncheon meeting in nearby Bristol, Que., to Prime Minister St. Laurent's recent statement that he plans to attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London June 26.

"I'm going there too, I think," the Conservative leader said. It was another of a series of confident statements about the federal election's outcome that

Mr. Diefenbaker has made, especially as his Maritimes tour drew to an end last week.

We Have a Little Stranger

WE are thinking of putting our youngest out for adoption. It will be a wrench, but for the best in the long run.

We are in no position to give little Willy the training he needs in life. It is better that he should go elsewhere and learn those things which will help him to survive in a highly competitive and not too considerate world.

Little Willy came to us Sunday.

Because Sunday was one of those halcyon days, with the sea a mirror, the boss of our house consented to go fishing with me for one hour—no more, no less.

We were putting along, short of a mile from Clover Point, when we noticed a disturbance on the surface. Steering to it, we found little Willy, lying on his side and kicking feebly around in circles.

Little Willy is a duckling not more than a few days old. How he came to be in the open Strait, far away from any of his kind or any mature ducks, we don't know. But Willy wasn't doing so well. He hadn't strength enough to hold up his head. He hadn't power enough in his thin legs to stay on an even keel.

So we gathered little Willy up from the water and let him rest on a thwart. Things didn't look too hopeful. He was breathing. That's all.

FIRST AID

We brought him to shore and took him to a neighbor lady who has a feeling for small creatures in distress. I wouldn't have given you two cents for Willy's chances. She gave him a small smash of brandy. Willy cheered.

The neighbor gave him a little more, saturating a piece of bread in the stuff and putting it in his bill with a toothpick.

We took Willy home and I gave him a shorty of rye, well cut, in an eggcup. Willy began to hiccup. But he got his head up and shook it like a guest who, after the first gulp says, "Boy! Have you got any more water?"

The mixture had a conventional effect. Willy grew drowsy. So we wrapped him in a soft wool sweater, put him in a tomato basket and placed it on top of the warming oven. Willy slept.

By 10 in the evening, Willy came to. He seemed to want to know how he'd arrived in a tomato basket, wrapped in Braemar on a stove's warming oven. He was scared and indignant—which is a reaction not uncommon to those who emerge from a spree in unfamiliar surroundings.

We watched our erring newcomer, all members of the family peering into a larger and deeper box to which he'd been transferred. We were parents of a recovering child.

We fed him pabulum, begged by a younger daughter from a home where she baby-sits. We broke up bread and floated it in a shallow bowl in the box.

HOW DULL IT IS

Willy waded through it, ate when he felt like it, cheeped and snoozed.

But life is apparently dull for a few-days-old duckling in a cardboard carton—especially a duckling that has tried the open Strait.

Willy apparently wanted attention and company. He roused himself and showed an interest in life when I whistled "The Portuguese Washerwoman" to him. Still "The Portuguese Washerwoman" grows boring even to the whistler as the hour advances on a Sunday night.

By Monday morning our duckling was perky enough to give a swimming display in the kitchen sink. When his audience dwindled as people went to school and work, Willy drooped, went back to his Braemar and snoozed.

We'd like to keep Willy, at least, until the fluffiness wears off him. Only we're scarcely equipped for the job. We're uncertain about feeding. We're not sure about housing. So we're thinking of a trip to Beacon Hill Park to see if any Mother Mallard there would like to add to her brood.

We think we can put in a good word for Willy. He's a young fellow who's going far. He's already gone far. That's why he's with us, instead of being back with his parents and the others who hatched out sometime last week.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

So-Called Fever

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Many people come to me or write asking what on earth are they going to do because whenever they get worried or go to a doctor or to a party their temperature goes up to around 99.5 or 100.5 degrees or higher. I remember well a woman who, whenever she came into my office, ran a temperature of 102. After I had chatted with her a while and calmed her fears, her temperature would drop to 98.6 which is the supposed normal.

During my medical lifetime I've seen scores of people who have been thoroughly examined many times by prominent physicians because of a supposed fever. Most of them had been told that they had Brucellosis, but my bacteriologists could never find much sign of it. I remember a woman who ran a "fever" whenever she went out with a beau. Once for four days when she was terribly worried about her father who had just had an operation, her temperature was 102.5. It dropped to normal as soon as her father was out of danger.

I have known persons who developed a fever of 102.5 for a few hours whenever they lost their temper, and had a violent tantrum. All of them had been treated for years for brucellosis without getting anywhere. I remember a woman who was thought to have tuberculosis because, for over a year, she ran an afternoon temperature of around 101.5.

Dr. Alvarez

Many tests failed to show anything wrong with her; her lungs were perfectly clear, and years later I heard that she had never become seriously ill. I think all that was wrong with her was that she had contracted a foolish marriage which distressed her greatly.

101 EVERY DAY

Some 30 years ago, at a student health service in a great university, the doctors found a young woman with a daily temperature of 101 or so. Every test known to science was run on her and nothing wrong was found. She said she was perfectly well, and evidently she was because when I heard from her, as I remember, 20 years later, she still had "a fever" and was well. Apparently, she was born with a temperature somewhat different from the average, just as a young fellow who stands 6 feet 7 inches in his stockings is a bit different from the average lad who is about 5 feet 8.

Every children's specialist in the land, I imagine, would just love to smash the thermometer in the medicine cabinet of some of the mothers of the children he takes care of. These mothers are constantly ringing him up in great alarm because Junior has a temperature of 99.5. The doctor perhaps feels compelled to go out to the house to see the youngster, but on arrival he perhaps finds him reading, or wrestling with his brother, or chasing the dog around the house. He isn't ill. It is the mother who needs treatment.

One of the things that some of us physicians need to learn is that there is no need for worshipping 98.6 or any other average figure in medicine. This figure is what the statisticians call a mode; it is the commonest figure which one finds if one makes a thousand measurements of a certain type on a thousand people.

No Fanatic Zeal In Socred's Low

This article about Social Credit national leader Solon Low is the last in a British United Press series on political leaders.

OTTAWA (BUP)—Solon Low, 57-year-old national leader of the Social Credit Party, will make a determined bid in the election campaign to become leader of "Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition" by fielding the most Socred candidates in any previous election.

Low's promise to make his party the official opposition in the House of Commons was backed up by kicking off the Social Credit campaign with rally in Tory Toronto in April. In order for any political party to become the official opposition, it would have to carry the lion's share of either Ontario or Quebec's federal ridings.

Low is backing up his candidacy by a cross-country campaign. He will have blanketed western Canada by May 11 and is then expected to head into central Canada, Quebec and the Atlantic provinces. Although Socred party headquarters said Low will campaign strenuously, it is expected he will punctuate his campaign with several days' rest along the way, since he suffered a mild heart attack two years ago.

Told To Go Easy

Low was given a "clean bill of health" midway in 1956 by his physician but was warned to "take it easy."

Aside from his political activities, Low coaches basketball teams for relaxation. His interest in basketball antedates his interest in politics.

By 1935, Low had taken such an interest in the game that he had become president of the Alberta Basketball Association, a position he held for four years. It was in 1933 that he was first elected to office as a member of the Alberta legislature. Four years later he became provincial treasurer.

Once Taught School

Like CCF leader M. J. Coldwell, Social Credit leader Low trained as a teacher, and got into politics through that channel. He was born at Cardston, Alta., in 1900, and was educated at Cardston public and high schools, Calgary Normal College, the University of Alberta, and the University of Southern California.

The Social Credit leader is a short, stocky man, always well-groomed, who frequently wears grey flannel slacks and a blazer.

He came to Ottawa in the general election of 1945, about a year after he was named national leader of the party. But by the time he entered the federal field of politics, he had had a long period of training in the provincial field.

Defeated in 1940

His term as provincial treasurer which started in 1937 carried him through 1944. During most of this time he was chairman of the board of administrators of the teachers' retirement fund in the province. He suffered a defeat at the polls in Warner constituency in 1940, but was elected to the legislature again by acclamation in Vegreville riding.

During the last year of his term as provincial treasurer, he was also minister of education. When he became national leader of the party and was waiting for a chance to get into the federal house, he served in the Alberta government as a minister without portfolio.

Since coming to Ottawa, Low has earned a reputation as an effective speaker, who can put forth his views clearly and briefly.

Low, of course, is well versed in and a vigorous advocate of the Social Credit economic theory. But most of his speeches in parliament are made without the fanatic zeal that often bedevils the theory when used by some of Low's supporters.

HOME GARDEN

Replanting Dahlias May Prove Puzzling

How to plant dahlia tubers at the recommended depth after they have been sprouted indoors is a puzzle to many home gardeners.

Obviously, the young growths should not be buried, yet the tubers must be well below soil level if they are to support strong plants.

Many years ago I considered growing dahlias commercially and received instruction on culture at a dahlia nursery. Incidentally, the scheme fell through because early frosts killed the plants before anyone saw a bloom.

Our first job in the nursery was to dig holes eight inches deep, more oval in shape than round, and then drive a sturdy stake at the north end of each oval.

The single tubers, with their sprouts, were placed in the holes shaves your Hidden Beard!

Here's the first really new shaving development since electric shaving first began!

The Remington Rollectric reaches the Hidden Beard other shaving methods miss. (See the pictures at right—they show how the Rollectric does a shaving job that's never been done before.)

The Rollectric's exclusive Roller Comb action also protects tender facial skin, gives a smooth, all-comfort shave every time! The Rollectric's fast, too, because it's the world's most powerful electric shaver. Yes, the new Remington Rollectric makes all other shaving methods obsolete!

The Rollectric comes complete in a handsome suede travel case... see it at your dealer's today!

A product of Remington Rand, Limited • Electric Shaver Division • Toronto

Here's your hidden beard. Whiskers grow in tiny valleys. Ordinary shavers skim the tops of these valleys—shave only the tops of whiskers. Soon each whisker base grows out and your Hidden Beard can be seen and felt.

Here's how Remington gets it. The Rollectric's Roller Combs gently press the valleys down—pop up whisker bases into path of mansized shaving head. Each whisker is sheared off at its base—cleanly, comfortably, quickly.

Canyens Force Seventh Game

REGINA (CP)—Captain Ralph Backstrom led Ottawa Canadiens to a 4-2 victory over Flin Flon Bombers Monday night to force a seventh and deciding game in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup junior hockey series.

Quebec Aces Hot Choice For Trophy

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Aces, their stock boosted Sunday by a solid 4-2 victory over Brandon Regals in the fourth game of their best-of-nine Edinburgh Trophy series, are now being favored to win it up in the next two games.

The win, which gave the Quebec Hockey League champions a 3-1 lead in the East-West contest, was the first game between the two clubs not decided by a single goal. Aces held the Western Hockey League title holders scoreless for over 50 minutes while running up a 4-0 lead.

Quebec won a Montreal contest 7-6 in a sudden-death overtime period. They also grabbed the series opener 5-4 but lost the second game 2-1 when Brandon counted at 19:55 of the final period.

Playing coach Don Raleigh of Regals Monday described his team's play Sunday as "our worst game of the season." Regals were without the services of centre Norm Johnson, benched with a charleyhorse, and missed Raleigh when he left the game before the last period with a pulled shoulder muscle.

Both players will be back in the lineup for tonight's game. Aces have come through the series without a serious injury.

The sixth game is scheduled for Thursday night with other games, if needed, set for the following Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Brodies Whip Oilers, 10-4; Smokies Win

Senior "B" Men's Softball League action hit a running stride Monday night at Central Park when Brodies Bakery and Firefighters both came up with wins in the second day of the season.

Brodies handily whipped Refined Oil, 10-4, behind the five-hit pitching of Jack Girard, to make it two in a row after nipping Mary's Coffee Bar, 7-6, in the league opener Sunday.

Firefighters trailed, 1-0, to the seventh inning when they pushed across a pair of markers. They repeated the job again in the eighth to come up with a 4-1 win over Fletchers.

Barry Jackson pitched a three-hitter for the winners. In the other Sunday opener, Tudor House laced Navy, 9-1, behind the fine mound work of George Kaye.

TIME OUT!

By JEFF KEATE

"Might know it! First time my family has seen me in a game, and I put on a miserable performance!"

Willie Loses 15 Days, Too

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Jockey Willie Shoemaker hauled his golf clubs out of the closet today and prepared to sit out a 15-day suspension imposed on him by stewards of Churchill Downs for misjudging the finish line in last Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

The noted little rider's suspension will prevent him from getting a running start in the jockey race at Hollywood Park when the meeting opens Thursday and may cost him the riding championship at the track where he has been the leading jockey seven of the last eight meetings.

But Shoemaker didn't blame the stewards for suspending him—he blamed himself for the act of misjudgment that probably cost his mount, Gallant Fox, victory in the race as he was nosed out by Iron Liege.

When informed of his suspension, Shoemaker said philosophically, "They think they're doing the right thing, so I guess there's little I can say about it. I just made a stupid mistake in judgment—and that's that."

More talkative than usual, Shoemaker revealed he realized his mistake the instant after he stood up in the irons at the 16th pole and said the names he silently called himself couldn't be printed in a newspaper.

"Then I laid the whip to Gallant Fox again, but it was too late. I didn't pull him up when I eased up in the saddle, but the change in my position caused him to hesitate momentarily—just enough that we dropped from a nose to a head behind. He didn't break stride, though."

TOURNEY EXPENSES PAID

Ward's Amateur Status in Doubt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The amateur status of national golf champion Harvie Ward was questioned Monday. San Francisco automobile dealer Edward E. Lowery said he paid Ward's expenses to compete in amateur tournaments in Detroit and Ontario.

Lowery, under indictment by the grand jury for allegedly evading state income taxes, testified he took Ward east and sponsored him in the events.

Stuart Heatley, northern California executive board member of the United States Golf Association, said this would invalidate Ward's amateur standing.

Ward, en route back to San Francisco from the Colonial golf tournament in Texas, could not be reached.

Ward has won the national amateur title twice and the British and Canadian championships once each.

ODGERS PACES BAYS

Albions, Oak Bay Top Cricket Crowd

Oak Bay joined Albions at the head of the Victoria and District Cricket Association standings Sunday by scoring a four-wicket victory over Incogs at Windsor Park.

Albions opened the season at Beacon Hill Saturday with a 38-run triumph over Alcos.

Batting first, Incogs were all out for 123 and Oak Bay, getting 53 runs from Z. Woolfson and 32 from Graham Odgers, passed the Incog total with only six wickets down.

Odgers paced the Oak Bay bowlers, taking four wickets for only six runs, while Reider Getz, who was top Incog bat with 41 runs, captured three Oak Bay wickets while yielding 26 runs.

Major Spittal Tops Heals Rifle Shoot

Major A. M. T. Spittal missed the bull's eye only once Saturday when he registered 50, 49 for a total of 99 in big bore rifle matches at Heals Range for a clean four-point win over second-place Major A. E. Evans, of the Canadian Scottish.

Major Spittal scored a perfect round from the 200-yard line, but missed his second perfect round at 600 yards.

Major Evans shot 47, 48 for 95 and tied with Chuck Hobson, of the Fifth Regiment, who had 49, 46 for 95 and third place.

4 Men Drowned, Boat Capsizes

(From CP Dispatches)

HAZELTON—Four men were drowned Monday in the swollen Bulkley River when their boat capsized.

The men, employed by Valentine Clark Poles Co. Ltd., were swept down the river through Bulkley Canyon near this northern B.C. village, 140 miles north-east of Prince Rupert.

The men were crossing the river near Mud Creek in a cable-drawn boat when it capsized. Three of the men were resdents of South Hazelton and one lived at Skeena Crossing. Names were being withheld until relatives have been notified.

MURDER TRIAL

KAMLOOPS—George Allen Thompson, 30, charged with murder in the shooting death of Wilber Edmond Nicholas of Magna Bay last Oct. 9, appeared in his own defence as his trial continued here Monday.

The trial, which started April 30, had been delayed several times as arguments were heard to determine whether testimony was admissible before a jury.

LOANS AGENCY REQUEST
VANCOUVER — The Retail Merchants' Association has asked Prime Minister St. Laurent to say at once whether the federal government intends to establish a retail business loans agency.

Independent retailers want a yes or no answer right away, he said.

TRAFFIC ORPHANS HOME

VANCOUVER (CP) — A station wagon arrived in Vancouver this week, carrying two boys and bushels of toys and treasures.

The two boys, John and David Shoobridge of suburban Richmond, were returning home seven weeks after an accident in Aberdeen, Wash., which killed their parents and a brother. John, five, and David, one and one-half, still wearing heavy casts, made the trip lying on a mattress in the back of the borrowed vehicle.

But the people of Aberdeen and their guardian, W. J. Griffin, had done all they could to make the young patients cheerful.

Inco Metals at work in Canada

In the platinum refining process, low octane naphthas flow through a bed of tiny pellets containing approximately 0.5% platinum. Contact with the platinum speeds the chemical reaction that changes the low octane naphthas to high octane compounds — the basis of most modern anti-knock gasolines.

INCO PLATINUM helps produce high octane gasoline in Canada

Using one of the world's most precious metals—platinum—many of Canada's oil companies are producing high octane anti-knock gasoline more economically than ever before! That is because the platinum causes a catalytic reaction that changes low octane naphthas into high octane fuel, and does this with maximum yield of marketable products.

A substantial proportion of the platinum used in Canada's oil refineries is Inco Platinum, mined by Inco workmen right here in Canada.

Platinum is one of the seven precious metals present in the Sudbury ores in recoverable quantities.

In oil refineries and other important Canadian companies manufacturing chemical, electrical, dental and medical products, and jewelry, Inco Platinum helps provide jobs for Canadians and better products for you.

This is another way that Inco helps stimulate the growth and development of Canada's economy.

"GEE, THIS IS FUN!" Members of George Jay School's flutophone band, Karen Gung, John Wright and conductor Pat Temple, examine their first Greater Victoria Music Festival program. Their large ensemble played in the first class of the festival's first day this morning. Using a simple flute-type instrument, drum and other rhythmic effects, they earned a glowing adjudication from visiting judge, William D. Cole.

Music Festival Off to Good Start

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Everything was auspicious for the start of the Greater Victoria Music Festival this morning. The sun shone, young competitors bubbled over with energy and enthusiasm, adjudicators were impressed and parents and friends rallied round in large numbers, demanding season tickets and programs.

Sessions opened simultaneously 9 a.m. at First United Fellowship Hall for instrumental ensembles and solos; Metropolitan Church for school choirs; Central Junior High for folk dancing and St. John's War Memorial Hall for a junior piano class.

With a break for lunch, this activity continued all day until past 4 p.m. Tonight's session consisting of junior and senior high school choral classes will be held in First United Fellowship Hall, Balmoral Road.

OFFICIAL OPENING

Official opening of the festival will take place Wednesday evening at Central Junior High when several top performances selected by adjudicators from the first two days' sessions will be presented. On this program there will also be two major open folk dance classes.

While the first two days of the festival are devoted to school participation in particular, the balance of the week also has adult highlights to offer, with oratorio and operatic classes scheduled.

Special evening concerts include the folk dancing display Wednesday, the honor performance school concert of choral, instrumental and folk dance highlights, and the Wednesday, May 15 grand windup when bursary and scholarship winners will perform. All these events will take place at Central Junior High School.

FIRST RESULTS

Results of this morning's sessions available at press time, were as follows:

Piano: Adjudicator, Hugh McLean: Sonata, 13 years and under: Gillian Gerry, 86; Joan Saxon, 84; Nana Flitger, Patsy Loft and Edward Curran, tied, 83.

School choruses: Adjudicator, Wayne Hertz: Grade 6; Sir

Folk Dance: Adjudicator, Mrs. Peggy MacFarlane: Oaklands School, 86; Craigflower School, 85; Doncaster and Macaulay Schools, 84 (tied).

Grade 1, Singing Game: Quadra School, 85; St. Paul's School and Salt Spring Elementary-Senior High (tied), 83.

Fuel Dealer Wins Acquittal

A charge of false pretences against fuel deliveryman Sohan Singh was dismissed in city police court today when it was determined he made no pretence, false or otherwise.

John W. R. Gresham, 1905 Duchess, complained a load of furnace sawdust advertised as fir and for which he paid $24 was in fact largely cedar and hemlock.

He had seen an advertisement in a newspaper in February, made the order at Sooke Fuel Co. the next day and a truck load of sawdust was subsequently delivered by Sohan Singh early in March.

Mr. Gresham said he had difficulty burning the sawdust in his furnace and finally gave up after consuming about 400 cubic feet of the order, which he later complained to the dealer was short of the 600 cubic feet he had ordered.

Karnel Singh, brother of the accused and owner of the firm, said sometimes a cedar or hemlock log will be run through the sawmill where sawdust is obtained, but that this is usually ignored because of its small quantity.

Where there are large amounts of hemlock and cedar in the mixture the sawdust is discarded, he told the court.

A forestry expert engaged by police to examine a sample of the sawdust order broke components down this way:

Cedar, 70 per cent; hemlock, 15 per cent; fir, 15 per cent.

Pure fir sawdust sold by the firm was priced at $26, it was explained, but the mill sawdust was lower because of the chance of a slight mixture.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said with regard to the accused: "He is an employee of the company. He made a delivery in the ordinary way and made no pretence whatsoever."

The deliveryman was defended by lawyer George Gregory.

Victoria Singer In Opera Final

Local baritone John Dunbar was one of five B.C. singers chosen today from a group of 19 competitors as finalists in vocal auditions sponsored in Vancouver by the San Francisco Opera Association.

Winner will be selected by Kurt Adler, San Francisco Opera's musical director, and flown to the city in June for a radio appearance as soloist with the San Francisco Opera.

6,800 Attend Jaycee Fair Opening Night

Junior Chamber of Commerce officials exulted today over a record-breaking first-night crowd of 6,800 at the Victoria Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition at Memorial Arena Monday.

"It's the biggest since the fair started 11 years ago," said George Geddie, fair committee chairman.

The Jaycees are aiming for a record 90,000 over the week-long run of the exhibition.

ACROBATS HIT

One of the main attractions at the fair was a performance of balancing feats by acrobat "The Great Valdon."

The 26-year-old Texan held a large crowd spellbound when he made a hand-stand on two soda bottles placed one on top of the other on a 16-foot lamp post.

A big attraction for both adults and children was a large handicraft display where people could see craftsmen and artists at work.

Artist Peggy Walton Packard drew on-the-spot portraits.

FOR SCIENTISTS

Science-minded children were interested in the display of the Victoria branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, which included a huge telescope and various instruments for measuring the distance of stars.

The Royal Canadian Air Force displayed an ejection seat used on high speed jets, the YMCA a model of its summer camp at Glinz Lake, Sooke, and the Canadian Institute for the Blind a display of its handicrafts.

The fair will be open daily from 2 to 11 p.m.

Door prizes will be offered throughout the week.

RASSLE HASSLE

A "rasslin" hassle added excitement to the opening night of the Victoria Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition Monday.

At one stage, the midway tent housing the wrestling swayed, ballooned, and was near collapse as a crowd tried to see a "return bout" without paying for admission tickets.

As Jaycee fair officials sort it out, here's the sequence: Pro wrestler "Eric the Great" challenged anyone to stay with him for seven minutes, with $30 at stake.

Victoria athlete Gordie Gordienko accepted the challenge, stayed the route, and was paid off.

Then the Great Eric issued a second challenge to Gordie, while the audience was filling out of the tent.

The audience tried to scramble back in for the second bout, the ticket takers objected, a fence was broken, ropes holding the tent were cut, and the second bout was cancelled.

No hits, no injuries, no second bout.

Rites Thursday For Leading Antique Authority

Mrs. Alice Maud Robertson, a leading Victoria authority on antiques, died in the Royal Jubilee Hospital today in her 80th year.

She was an active member of the Antique Dealers' Association in Victoria, president of the Spode Shop on Government Street and proprietor of Robertson's Antiques, 1031 Fort.

A resident of Victoria since 1923, Mrs. Robertson was also vice-president of the Soroptomist Club and a leading member of the B.C. Philatelic Society.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Bowden, who resided with her at 3771 Haro Road, Cadboro Bay, and a son, Douglas F. Robertson, of Squilax, B.C.

Funeral services will be held at Hayward's Funeral Chapel Thursday at 3 p.m. Rev. William Allan officiating.

The body will be cremated.

One-Mill Boost In City Taxes

Business Levy Up 50% Rate Set at 45.5 Mills

By PETE LOUDON

Home taxes in Victoria will be increased one mill in 1957—2 per cent over last year.

The levy on city business is increased 50 per cent overall—but will affect merchants to varying degrees.

Total of $460,000 will be raised by business tax which replaces the trade licence system.

Some merchants will pay a great deal more than they paid in licence fees; some will pay about the same; a few may pay less.

These are main results of city council budget sessions which ended this morning with the setting of a 45½ mill rate.

In two and a half days of meeting, council slashed $118,164 from a provisional budget of $7,596,550. Largely through the new business tax, council increased the city revenue by $166,100.

Mayor Percy Scurrell expressed pleasure at the results. "Council was faced with a very difficult situation in holding the mill rate down."

"The city was faced with increased costs in salaries and wages, increased school costs and loss of revenue from cancellation of road and poll taxes."

"There was the unprecedented cost in our share of the underground wiring program. And we had to honor a promise of a $25,000 grant this year toward Royal Jubilee Hospital expansion."

CAREFUL

"We were faced at first with what looked like a substantial increase in the mill rate. By careful budgeting and cutting where council felt it would do the least harm, we've been able to hold the increase to one mill."

"In my opinion council has done a good job in preparing the budget."

Friday, a mill rate increase of 4½ mills and a tax increase of 10 per cent was indicated.

Two mills of this increase was cancelled out Monday by the decision to collect $160,000 more from city businesses than was collected last year in trade licenses, ($300,000).

The other 1½-mill reduction was effected mainly by slicing deeply into public works estimates.

A total of $105,000 was chopped from works altogether. About $95,000 was taken out of the budget.

New Laundry Devices To Fight Labor Cost

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

For every dollar that Canadian and U.S. laundries take from customers 60 cents goes in labor costs, says G. Louis Dodge, president of the American Institute of Laundering, who is in Victoria today.

"Because of rising labor costs, the institute is now conducting intensive research into new mechanical methods of laundering," said Mr. Dodge in an interview at the Empress Hotel.

"This is the only way we can reduce laundry charges to the public."

SNOW-WHITE

Dapper, good-humored Mr. Dodge wears the snowiest of snow-white shirts as an emblem of his trade and operates his own laundry and dry-cleaning establishment at Fresno, Calif.

Last year he was elected national president of the American Institute of Laundering, which has its headquarters at Joliet, Illinois, and comprises a membership of 6,000 firms in the U.S. and Canada.

He believes the trend towards the household washing machine has been "halted" as housewives are finding it more convenient and almost as economical to send their weekly wash to the laundry.

"Our argument is that the housewife can lead a happier, fuller life by turning her wash over to the expert," Mr. Dodge continued.

"Twenty-two per cent of her time is taken up with washing and ironing, and we maintain that home washing costs, including power and maintenance, are only 25 cents an hour less than laundry charges."

Mr. Dodge said three girls can wash and iron 100 shirts an hour in a modern laundry, with less friction on the collar than the shirt gets at home.

Modern laundry machinery, he adds, can wash, iron and fold 700 bed sheets an hour.

As for dry-cleaning, Mr. Dodge says the day when the laundryman wouldn't speak to the dry cleaner are over.

"Both are co-workers in a highly specialized field, and the modern dry-cleaner now has to be an expert chemist who knows how different fluids affect different fabrics."

Mr. Dodge was conducted over New Method Laundries Ltd., 947 North Park Street, today by Hugh Stephen, president.

Mr. Stephen says the laundry and dry cleaning industry is supporting between 500 and 600 employees in Greater Victoria with a total wage bill exceeding $1,000,000 a year.

Both are enthusiastic campaigners for commercial laundering on the grounds that it is cleaner and more hygienic.

Q—My mother used to tell me she had seen the great French actress Sarah Bernhardt in a play performed in Victoria. What year was that?

—Mrs. E. M. F.

A—"The Divine Sarah" made her first American tour in 1880 and during her career she made a number of other tours on this continent. It is impossible to say on which one your mother saw her. It may have been during her visit in January, 1913, when with the French actor Lou Tellegen as her leading man she appeared as Camille in the play by Dumas the Younger, a part in which she was famous. Though one of her legs had to be amputated she continued a full, active career on the stage. She died in Paris in March, 1923.

MONTE ROBERTS

Don't bother me for a minute or two—I'm trying to figure something out... hmmm, let's see...

Cooking meals, three hours, 30 minutes. Washing dishes, one hour, 15 minutes. Baking cookies, cakes, etc., for kids, two hours. Keeping kids from eating cakes and cookies between meals, two hours.

Getting kids to wash behind ears, 30 minutes. Getting kids off to school, one hour, 30 minutes. Getting husband off to work, two hours. Picking up night clothes left on floor by kids and husband, 30 minutes.

Figuring out what to serve for dinner that hubby won't growl at, one hour. Figuring out how to buy it without upsetting the budget, one hour.

Going to the store and buying it, two hours. Doing laundry, two hours. Ironing same, three hours. Mopping, dusting, and vacuuming, one hour. Making beds, 30 minutes.

Weeding the zinnia border in the garden that simply HAD to be done and I'm tired of waiting for husband to do same, three hours.

Calling up members of the PTA to remind them of the meeting tonight, four hours.

Getting report of last PTA meeting ready for next PTA meeting, one hour.

Making kids do homework and helping with same, one hour.

Listening to husband tell what a hard day he had at the office, 30 minutes.

Making the kids get ready for bed, one hour. Mending socks, torn pockets, and other sundry items, one hour...

... hmmm... let's see now... so far, we have 35 hours and 45 minutes, and we're just getting started...

What am I trying to figure out?

Why, Mother's Day, of course.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Conciliation has been asked by Sheet Metal Workers International Association, Local 276, in negotiations with Victoria and Island sheet metal and roofing contractors.

Asked for the 125 members is a 72-cent hourly wage boost to $3 an hour, five paid statutory holidays and a health and welfare plan.

A proposed play park and pony rentals area, with facilities for a riding school for children, was referred to town planning commission by Saanich council Monday.

Application was made by Errol Thomas Hunter, 374 Sparrow, to rezone the 8.85 acres at Patricia Bay highway and Haynes for the purpose.

History of B.C. over the last 100 years is illustrated in a film strip prepared by the provincial education department and the B.C. centennial committee.

Willard Ireland, provincial architect, wrote the script and selected the pictures for the film, which will be shown in schools.

Young Horsemen Planning First High School Show

Student horsemen of Mount View High School have arrangements well in hand for the first high school gymkhana ever staged on Vancouver Island.

They will put their mounts through their paces at a show on the high schools grounds, Carey Road, during the afternoon of June 12.

Veteran horseman Bob Shanks has agreed to be judge. Jerry Warshawski and Bob Henson, students at the school

Taylor served as a member of the military component, Canadian delegation, at an International Truce Commission in Indo-China last year.

Fashion Dolls Will Appeal To the Teenage Daughters

By PENNY SAVER

So the "little girl" in the house has outgrown dolls! That really is a pity, because the older daughter is the one who will enjoy and appreciate the German-made dolls that are on sale in town. These dolls are long-legged beauties with top fashion wardrobes. Sports clothes, afternoon dresses and full-skirted evening gowns are styled to match ensembles in fashion magazines. The dolls have silky pony-tail hair-do's and the arms and legs move. Any girls interested in dress designing could use this interest as a good excuse for buying one of these dolls. Perfectly proportioned, the dolls are selling at $12.50.

An interesting note about these dolls is that they come complete with a music box stand to which they are attached. Like mannequins, the dolls turn to music, and show off the clothes. Blondes, brunettes and redheads are in the selection.

I know this isn't the day that I usually tell you about food and food prices, but I found something that I think will interest you. Would you like to buy bananas, oranges, apples or pears, ripe and good looking that are absolutely non-perishable? What a buy! Yes, you can wash them, pinch them, even drop them, and they'll not bruise or squash.

Of course, I wouldn't advise biting into one of these, for you're liable to lose a front tooth. They're just for show, but literally look good enough to eat. The banana has a few brown touches to it, and the apple is rather russet with deep red touches. The pear looks as if it were bursting with sweetness, and the orange is the thick-skinned kind that looks so easy to peel. Don't try, though. A very good thing about this fruit is that it's not waxed so that it's easily cleaned. Pop the fruit into a sudsy water, and then dry just as you would dishes.

They are priced at 89 cents and $1. Your dining room table can be gay and prettily centred all the time with these pieces.

For information about any of the items here in the column today or during past weeks, call me at 2-3131. I'll be glad to tell you where I shopped.

On Etiquette

Unseen method of paying dinner check:
I am a widow. The husband of a dear old friend is coming to town and I would like to take him to dinner in a fine restaurant to repay their hospitality. Could I take the check without embarrassing him?

Louise Davis answers:
When a man is with a lady,

he doesn't like to see her pay the check. So, rather than injure his manly pride, you can arrange with the head waiter to give you the check in private. But that can present an awkward situation, for even then he may inadvertently see the money transaction. It would be better not to take the chance. I suggest that you pre-arrange the deal. You would have to set up some kind of temporary credit system. Perhaps you can arrange with the proprietor to mail you a statement, or you can give him, for instance, a $20 bill and have him refund the balance by check. Since the head waiter will be expecting you, all you have to do is give your name. It would be simpler if you would invite another couple and entertain with a little dinner party in your own home.

Twins Receive Names

Barbara Marie and Joan Marie were the names given the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Beaubien at a baptismal ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral recently. Father R. Cunningham officiated. Godparents are: Miss Patricia Hynes, Miss Patricia Sullivan, Mr. Joseph Longpre and Mr. Danny Maloney. Maternal grandparents are Mrs. J. S. Hynes and the late Dr. Hynes, and maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. M. Maloney, Kelowna. A reception followed at the home of the babies' parents at 1133 Empress Avenue.

40TH ANNIVERSARY

Money From Altrusa Tea To Assist Older Women

Last Saturday afternoon at Old Charming Inn, Oak Bay, a successful tea was held by the Altrusa Club of Victoria. The occasion marked the 40th anniversary of the founding of International Altrusa. More than 100 guests attended and enjoyed a fashion show of hats. Miss Effie Atkins was the commentator and members of the club acted as models.

The 28 small tea tables were centred with floral arrangements of bluebells and white lilac—blue and white being Altrusa colors. Presiding at the head tea table were Mrs. Ursula Slack, Mrs. Marie Cooper, Mrs. Ada Wood, Miss Mona Jewell and Miss Marion Bollingbroke. Receiving guests were Miss Jess Robinson and Mrs. Grace Morrow. Tea cups were read by Miss Robinson.

A sum of $100.10 was realized and will be added to the Founders' Fund, vocational aid project.

PRICE: 10 CENTS
SATURDAY, 14 CENTSSUN WILL REMAIN;
MONDAY HOTTEST DAY

Ol' Sol, who has been beaming at Victoria the past few days, will continue his warm golden smile at least another 24 hours.

Stars will glow tonight and Wednesday temperatures will range between 48 and 68 degrees.

Monday was the hottest this year—71 degrees at 1.30 p.m.

Vancouver Island's most torrid place was Nanaimo where a top temperature of 75 degrees was recorded at Cassidy Airport.

Critical Shortage
In Housing
Predicted by Low

(From Times News Services)

Social Credit put on its biggest political rally of the federal campaign in Vancouver Monday night, and 2,500 persons filled Georgia Auditorium to hear National Leader Solon Low and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

In the last major address of his three-day B.C. tour, Mr. Low said that next winter the housing shortage brought on by the federal government's tight money policies will bring about "the most critical social problem that this country has ever faced."

Premier Bennett spoke mostly on Columbia River power and charged that the federal offer of financial aid for public development was a "red herring."

(At a press conference in Victoria earlier in the day Mr. Bennett said he was prepared to accept outright grants or long-term, low-interest loans from Ottawa.)

The premier battled hecklers

Warned of Worker Shortage

The Social Credit leader said that in the fall of 1955 industrialists across Canada warned that the development program planned for the following year would be hamstrung by a worker shortage unless something effective was done.

Yet, he said, in 1956 the total number of migrants arriving in Canada "was about equal to the average of the five previous years."

He asked: "What hope was there that without a renewed and greater effort the manpower problem could be solved?"

throughout his talk, with his usual enthusiasm.

When Mr. Bennett said the provincial government was giving some $2,000,000 to Vancouver residents under its home-owners' dividend, a heckler shouted: "Where did you get the money?"

The premier replied: "That is not the question. The question is, where did the money go before we came to power?"

Mr. Low was interrupted less often by catcalls. He was given fairly enthusiastic applause at some points in his address and afterward about half of those present gave him a standing ovation.

"Remember, too, that last year's figure of new Canadian arrivals was achieved only because of a last-minute rush of Hungarian refugees which was completely unplanned and unprovided for."

Mr. Low said that the minister of immigration now is "shouting from the rooftops that the 1957 total of new Canadians will be approximately 200,000—a number greater than that for any single year since 1913."

"On the one hand the Liberal government launches an over-

Khrushchev
Unveils Big
Russ Shakeup

Revolutionary Industry Revision
Takes Power From Kremlin Bureaucrats

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev today proposed the early abolition of more than 20 Soviet ministries in Moscow as part of a plan to revolutionize Soviet production and management.

The plan represents the biggest revision of Soviet economy since Stalin collectivized the farms nearly 30 years ago.

In a speech before a joint session of both chambers of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet (parliament) the Communist party first secretary outlined the new economic decentralization plan which will produce the biggest economic shakeup in Russia since the death of Lenin in 1924.

The 20 ministries concerned represent more than one-third of all Soviet industrial administrations centred in Moscow. Khrushchev said the reorganization of management should not be dragged out. It should be effected by the end of next month.

Khrushchev said the plan provides for setting up 92 national economic councils, which would assume the major function of planning and co-ordinating output. The party leader also called for an intensified war against bureaucracy.

UNPRECEDENTED
The rapid growth of Soviet industry and "unprecedented scope of construction," he said, make indispensable the further improvement of management methods.

"But we must not be naive," Khrushchev added. "We must bear in mind that reorganization by itself does not kill bureaucracy as such, the bureaucrats will not disappear.

"That is why we must not relax but strongly intensify the struggle against all kinds of bureaucratic institutions."

AFFECTS 40 MILLIONS

"If instituted, the plan will affect some 300,000 state enterprises and 40,000,000 workers. It is based on Russia's long-range design to outstrip the United States in per capita production in an "historically short period."

Khrushchev's proposals call for a swing away from "Stalinist" centralization in which control of production was concentrated in the hands of powerful policy-making Moscow ministries whose directives were carried out by a bureaucratic network in the 15 republics forming the Soviet Union.

CIVIL SERVANTS' PAY ISSUE

STRIKE ULTIMATUM
HANDLED B.C. GOV'TMay 31 Deadline
For Wage Boost

A provincial-wide protest by B.C. government employees may result in strike action if they do not get satisfaction from the government this month on their request for higher wages.

More than 1,000 members of the B.C. Government Employees' Association Monday night at Vancouver voted to serve an ultimatum on the government calling for a satisfactory answer to wage increase requests by the end of May.

If the answer is not forthcoming, they will take a secret ballot of all employees on whether they wish to strike.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, whose department controls provincial civil servants, today declined comment.

"The same action will be considered at meetings of all our 46 local branches this week," H. A. Carney, secretary of the Victoria branch, said today.

Monday's protest meeting in Vancouver was attended by Lower Mainland branches of the association—Vancouver, New Westminster, Essondale and Woodland School.

"We expect the ultimatum issue will be backed up by all of our 11,000 members," Mr. Carney said.

Interest Boiling in Island Meeting

He added that as many as 500 Vancouver Island members will discuss the secret ballot at a protest meeting in Nanaimo next Friday at 8 p.m.

"Yesterday we expected a total of 300 members. Today interest has boiled up to the point where some 500 wish to attend from all parts of the island."

"We shall provide free bus transportation for all Victoria members who want to go."

"Provincial employees are really fed up because the MLAs and the cabinet voted themselves more money this year although the cabinet refused to give raises to government employees."

Attending the Nanaimo meeting next Friday will be delegates from Victoria, Courtenay, Alberni, Duncan and Nanaimo.

Euratom Atomic Energy Pool
Details Set

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—A top-priority program to usher in the atomic age in Europe and so end dependence on Middle East oil was submitted today to the six "Euratom" countries.

The report, entitled A Target for Euratom, was drawn up at the request of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands—the countries which are planning to link up in a European atomic energy pool with United States, Canadian and British help.

The report, written by Louis Warmand of France, Franz Etzel of West Germany and Francesco Giordani of Italy, sets a target of 15,000,000 kilowatts of nuclear power for the next 10 years.

It says this "ambitious" program will call for immediate action, and for co-operation with Britain, America and Canada.

It warns that if industry in the Euratom countries does not embark on a big-scale atomic program now, it will soon be unable to face competition, and imports of other energy sources, mostly Middle East oil, will rise to "intolerable heights."

Pearson Home
From NATO Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today it would be premature to say there is any likelihood of an East-West disarmament agreement.

He said on his return from Europe that the position of the East and Russia in the United Nations disarmament sub-committee is "getting a little closer but there is an awful lot to do yet."

Mr. Pearson attended the NATO council meeting in Bonn last week. He conferred with officials of his department for two days in London. The five-nation disarmament sub-committee, of which Canada is a member, is meeting in London.

Douk Policy
Unchanged
Declares A-G

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner Monday night said that the provincial government will not relax its policy of enforced education for the children of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors despite the sect's recent request to re-locate in Russia.

Meanwhile, the Freedomites were reported to have received a "favorable reply from the Soviet embassy in Ottawa to their application to move to Russia, and were engaged today in composing their answer."

IS B.C. NIBBLING ON COLUMBIA HYDRO?

Bennett, Sinclair Still Sharply at Odds on Deal

By PETER MURRAY

B.C.'s Premier Bennett is sharply at odds with the federal government over the proposal for massive development of the Columbia River hydro-electric resources.

This became clear today as observers analyzed the premier's statement of Monday that he would be willing to accept federal aid for the Columbia project.

The premier said B.C. would accept federal financing either through outright grants or by low interest long term loans at less than going market rates.

But this was directly contrary to the original offer made by the federal government through Fisheries Minister James Sinclair, and confirmed in a Vancouver speech last Friday by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

OTTAWA PLAN
The federal plan is that it would participate by financing either a joint federal-provincial crown company, or by a federal crown company doing part of the work—the same plan used in the northern Ontario link of Trans-Canada Pipelines and in Maritime power schemes.

Mr. Sinclair made this clear in an election speech at Gibson's Landing Monday night after Premier Bennett's declaration that he would accept federal financing.

Mr. Sinclair said: "We have told the province there is no limit to Ottawa's help towards building whatever is agreed upon, but we are going to have some say in the matter."

In his first election campaign speech in the Coast-Capilano constituency where he is seeking re-election, Mr. Sinclair said the federal government would not hand over such a large sum of money—a figure of $300,000,000 has been mentioned—without having something to say about how it would be handled.

He mentioned the possibility that Ottawa would consider "doing some of the work ourselves" if B.C. approves.

In his original statement in Vancouver on March 25, when he outlined the federal offer, Mr. Sinclair said:

Honduras Invaded

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Efforts to bring peace to the restive Honduras-Nicaragua border area were jolted today by an unofficial report that Nicaraguan troops had invaded the Cifuentes area in southeastern Honduras.

The reports, which lacked official confirmation but came from reliable sources, said the border crossing occurred at 5.30 a.m. Cifuentes is about 75 miles east of Tegucigalpa, the Honduran capital.

Body Found in Lake

LILLOOET, B.C. (CP)—The body of a man in his mid 30's was found in a car that was dragged from Pavilion Lake by the RCMP today. The 1956-model car was believed to have gone off the road and into the lake Monday night.

Police withheld the name of the victim. He apparently was the only occupant of the car.

Convicts Rioting

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP)—Prisoners at the North Dakota state penitentiary took control of the prison cell block today, shouting for better food, better housing and dismissal of some guards.

Deputy Warden Mike Ryan said as far as he knew there were no guards inside the cell block, held by all 220 prisoners confined at the penitentiary.

'NOT A WORD OF TRUTH IN IT'

Pearson Denies
Low's Charge
On Suez Crisis

External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson in Ottawa today gave an unqualified denial to a statement on the Suez crisis made in Victoria Monday by Solon Low, national Social Credit leader.

He told the Times: "There is not a word of truth in it... I am surprised that a leader of any Canadian political party should make such a statement."

Mr. Low said at a press conference in Victoria that Prime Minister St. Laurent last year threatened to withdraw Canada from the Commonwealth if Britain and France didn't stop the Suez invasion within 48 hours.

Mr. Low said this would be disclosed when and if contents of telegrams sent the United Kingdom by Mr. St. Laurent were made public.

Mr. Pearson's denial came hard on the heels of denials from Victoria's Frank Fairley, MP in the last Parliament, and Allister Fraser, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

"This... is totally inaccurate," said Dr. Fairley, Victoria candidate, and Mr. Fraser, candidate for Esquimalt-Saanich. A statement by the Liberal candidates read: "In the House of Commons Mr. St. Laurent was asked if he would make public correspondence between himself and the prime minister of the United Kingdom at that time."

"He stated he had been in communication with the U.K. prime minister suggesting that the correspondence be made public, but the U.K. prime minister had not agreed."

due, more intensive immigration program, while on the other hand this same federal government with its 'tight money' policy has reduced the construction of homes in Canada to less than 50 per cent of last year's figure—and thrown a great many people out of work in doing so."

Premier Bennett criticized the campaign tactics used by Prime Minister St. Laurent on Vancouver Island over the weekend, saying: "The people are intelligent. They don't want baby kissing everywhere. They want public men to discuss public business."

He said Canadians "are not going to bite for the taffy that the Liberals are offering them," and "a government whose policy is to check prosperity has no right to exist in Canada."

Referring to what he called the "measly" $6 increase in old age pensions Mr. Bennett said, "Any government that would do that should be thrown out of office."

The premier said that early in its tenure of office the Social Credit government asked the federal administration to co-operate in developing B.C.'s natural resources and in extending the PGE northward.

"We received no co-operation at all."

Prior to the present federal election campaign Resources Minister Lesage "would not say a word" about helping B.C. develop the Columbia. Now the Liberals are making promises.

Mr. Low was made an honorary

orary chief of the Burrard Indian tribe at the Vancouver rally.

The honor was bestowed by Tes-Wan-Nough, chief of the Burrard nation, after Mr. Low had been escorted into the hall by about a dozen Burrards, in full Indian dress and war paint, to the beat of drums and native chants.

Mr. Low was given the tribal name of "Big Brother."

A high point of the installation came when Mr. Low took part in the Indians' ritual thanksgiving dance while his "subjects" beat tom-toms and chanted and a group of comely Indian maidens smiled approvingly.

"Big Brother" passed up a chance to kiss the maidens on grounds he was too puffed after the dance. But he noted: "Mr. St. Laurent goes around kissing babies—look what he's missing."

At a Social Credit banquet in Victoria at noon Monday, Mr. Low predicted the CCF party will "die a natural death within a very short time."

"Within 10 years you will find a real two-party system of government, with Social Credit on one side and all the others on the other side," Mr. Low said.

"Then when the people get tired of one they can turn to the alternative—something they haven't been able to do up to now because both parties (Liberals and Conservatives) have the same policies."

Pensioners Below Poverty Borderline

The national Socred leader said the federal government had failed to "acknowledge the fact that many thousands of our old age pensioners are living below the borderline of poverty."

Hitting out at federal subsidies for cultural development in Canada, Mr. Low said:

"It is inexcusable since we are living in a country that produces thirty billion dollars' worth of goods and services a year and in the period that could be the greatest of our history it seems we can afford countless luxuries and non-essential expenditures in our national budget."

"We can afford to set aside fifty million dollars for culture, which may include teaching the Indian to ride side-saddle."

To avoid any misunderstanding, Mr. Low added:

"There is no group representing the people as a whole that is more aware of the value of cultural development and wholesome cultural activities than the Social Credit movement."

Social Credit believes that culture cannot be bought and sold, but must "spring spontaneously from within the individuals in our country and cannot be forced on a nation by a group of eggheads."

"The present national policy amounts to a subsidy for mediocrity."

Mr. Low summed up:

"The treatment of the old-age pensioner in all parts of Canada except the Social Credit provinces exemplifies the kind of thinking that now controls our federal government."

"There is no problem about finding money for a spending binge on art, literature, ballet and soulful singers, on mediocre actors, and untalented playwrights, but there is not sufficient money available to provide the bare basic standard of living that our senior citizens require."

A Social Credit government at Ottawa would immediately raise the basic pension to $60 a month, supplemented in cases of need by an additional $20 grant if matched by the provinces for a total pension of $100.

Mr. Low flew from Vancouver today to Regina, where he will address an evening rally.

By coincidence, Prime Minister St. Laurent is also speaking at a Liberal meeting in the Saskatchewan capital.

"I don't know how that happened," Mr. Low said Monday. "We certainly didn't plan it that way."

The Social Credit leader added that his party arranged their meeting first.

New Pioneering Era
Diefenbaker Pledge

SHAWVILLE, Que. (CP)—A new pioneering age, focussed on Canada's North, has been promised by John Diefenbaker if a Progressive Conservative government is elected June 10.

Canada's future is in the North, the Conservative leader told some 500 persons in the high school auditorium here Monday night as he wound up a one-day tour of Pontiac-Témiscamie constituency in the Upper Ottawa Valley.

Earlier, as he moved through this farming area, Mr. Diefenbaker referred at a luncheon meeting in nearby Bristol, Que., to Prime Minister St. Laurent's recent statement that he plans to attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London June 26.

"I'm going there too, I think," the Conservative leader said.

It was another of a series of confident statements about the federal election's outcome that

Mr. Diefenbaker has made, especially as his Maritimes tour drew to an end last week.

To Attend 60th Annual Gathering

Mrs. Dudley Markham, president of the provincial board of the Victorian Order of Nurses, and Mrs. W. Findlay, first vice-president of the Victoria board, left on Monday to fly to Ottawa, where they will attend the diamond jubilee annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada. Mrs. Markham will present a report on activities of the order in British Columbia.

Miss Audrey Price, a member of the local VON nursing staff, left last Friday for Ottawa, where she will attend the diamond anniversary meeting as a representative of the local staff. She will also attend a meeting of the Canadian Council of Nurses in Ottawa next Friday.

Quiet Wedding Solemnized

In a quiet ceremony in First United Church last Saturday morning, Rev. A. I. Higgins heard the wedding vows of Patricia Mary Martindale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Emery, 1508 Arrow Road, and Dr. Robert N. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Young, 4040 Telegraph Bay Road. Standing with the bride couple in the ceremony performed in the church parlor were Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Hope. The groom, now an intern at Royal Jubilee Hospital, is a graduate of the University of British Columbia medical school.

At Graduation Dance

Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Anderson spent the weekend in Vancouver where they were guests at the Crofton House graduating dance. Their daughter, Miss Judith Anderson, is a member of the graduating class. Miss Anderson's escort for the evening was Mr. David Cook, Victoria.

Prior to the dance a dinner was held in Georgia Hotel for the graduating class and their escorts. Dr. and Mrs. Anderson attended a no-host dinner at the Vancouver Yacht Club. They returned to their home on Valdez Place in Victoria on Sunday evening.

Next Thursday, Dr. and Mrs. Anderson will again cross to Vancouver to present Miss Judith as a debutante at the Military Ball to be held in Hotel Vancouver on Friday evening. Accompanying them to the mainland will be Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Conn, who will be their guests at the ball.

Symphony Committee Returns Officers for Second Year

Mrs. Denis Humphries was returned as president of the women's committee to the Victoria Symphony Society in annual meeting held at the Queen'swood home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Chisholm, Monday evening.

Other officers are Mrs. H. M. Edmison, first vice-president, Mrs. E. Pearlman, second, and Mrs. H. Gilliland, treasurer, all returned for a second term; Mrs. R. Nickells, recording secretary, and Mrs. J. R. Hind, corresponding secretary.

Chairman of the nominating committee was Mrs. Chisholm, assisted by Mrs. R. Dowling, Mrs. H. Burnett, Mrs. J. Gillespie and Mrs. Mellis-Mair.

Treasurer's report given by Mrs. Gilliland gave receipts for the year as $5,385.44. Disbursements showed $5,000 given to the symphony society and balance announced was $259.24.

SEASON TICKETS

In her report on box office receipts, given at the annual meeting of the women's committee to Victoria Symphony Society, Monday evening, Mrs. G. A. R. Stelck said that 1,435 season tickets were sold last year — the equivalent of one full house. Sale of new season's tickets, she said, already totaled 1,041 (283 for Sundays and 758 for Monday nights). At this time last year only 850 had been sold.

Sylvia Hooper, Dr. J. F. Higgins Wed in Lovely Ceremony in East

A wedding of interest in Victoria took place recently in the Church of St. John the Evangelist in London, Ont., when Miss Sylvia Ann Hooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hooper, 3520 Richmond Road, Victoria, became the bride of Dr. John Farquhar Higgins, Westminster Hospital, London, Ont.

Archdeacon C. W. Foreman officiated at the ceremony performed in a setting of spring blossoms and pink and white snapdragons. Organist, Ivor S. Brake, played traditional music by Bach and Handel.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a bouffant gown fashioned of misty white nylon tulle and imported Chantilly lace over layers of net and bridal satin. Panels of lace enhanced the very full tulle skirt which cascaded gracefully to a lace inset from which a deep flounce billowed out in a wide sweep. The sculptured lace bodice featured a softly scooped neckline framed with floral lace appliques delicately jewelled with sequins. The long graceful sleeves tapered to slender points. A coronet of white iridescent sequins held her chapel length veil. Her pearl necklace and earrings were a gift of the groom, and completing her ensemble, the fair-haired bride carried a cascade of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Ann Marling, Victoria, was the only attendant. She wore a gown of forget-me-not blue crystal satin fashioned on princess lines. The full flaring ballet length skirts were offset by a slender fitted bodice, topped by softly draped diaphanous nylon chiffon enhanced by a tailored self bow. The gown was completed with a bouquet of bebe chrysanthemums and forget-me-nots. In her hair she wore a halo of white daisies and green leaves. The groom, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Higgins, Gracious Pond Farm, Chobham, Surrey, England, had Dr. F. G. Montfort as best man. Usher was D. Richardson.

Mrs. Hooper, in a pink lilac crystal crepe sheath dress with cummerbund of matching applique lace, matching hat and corsage of sweetheart rosebuds assisted the just-weds in greeting guests at a reception held in the London Hotel.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake

"Such assistance is not indirect, by way of subsidies, grants or guarantee of bonds, but by direct participation either in Crown companies, or federal Crown companies doing specific sections of the development."

BUY OUT

"Since this project will unquestionably be self-liquidating, the provincial government can over the years buy out the federal government's interests in the usual way."

In disclosing at a press conference Monday that B.C. was ready to accept "substantial" outright grants or loans, the premier would not say whether that meant the provincial government had decided on public development of the Columbia.

"You can surmise what you like," he told reporters.

Mr. Bennett spoke further on the issue at a Social Credit rally in Vancouver Monday night.

He accused the federal government of using a "political dodge" in its offer.

Officially Ottawa has not offered to help in developing the Columbia, he said. There had not been a "single letter" to his office from Prime Minister St. Laurent or any other federal minister.

Meanwhile, CCF Leader Robert Strachan claimed that the premier's "pride and prejudice got the better of him."

"If he were really interested in public development of the Columbia he would have made arrangements to call on the prime minister while he was here."

DOUBTFUL

Mr. Strachan was doubtful of the premier's statement he was prepared to accept some form of federal aid.

"He (Bennett) still won't say whether he favors public power," the Opposition leader said.

"He says he'd like federal assistance, but leaves up in the air the question of public versus private power. All this knowing full well the federal offer is tied to development of the Columbia as a public power project."

Israeli Liner Searched for Bomb
LONDON (AP)—Police searched the new Israeli liner Theodor Herzl today after receiving an anonymous telephone call that a bomb had been planted aboard. A frogman inspected the hull.

The search began only a few hours before the 8,250-ton ship was due to leave for Haifa on her maiden voyage. Police allowed passengers to go aboard.

AUSTRALIAN 'PIRATES' CAPTURE U.S. CARRIER
SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Ten Sydney university students in pirate dress boarded the U.S. aircraft carrier Bennington before reveille today. They climbed unchallenged to the bridge and sent 2,500 American officers and sailors to battle stations by sounding the general alarm.

It was more than five minutes before the ship's company realized they were victims of a prank.

"Britain's prime minister stated it was not the custom of the U.K. to make public confidential documents between heads of state because it would destroy freedom of expression, necessary when delicate matters were under discussion."

"It is for this reason our prime minister was not able to disclose contents of the correspondence."

Dr. Fairley said he was present in the House during the debate, and it was made clear, both by Mr. St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson "that at no time did Canada ever suggest withdrawal from the Commonwealth, but that the policy of Canada has consistently been to hold the Commonwealth together."

Subsequent actions by Mr. Pearson at the United Nations and elsewhere, he went on, confirm that Canada's sole concern is to prevent any weakening of Commonwealth ties.

3 Hospitalized In Car Crashes
ALBERNI (CP)—Three persons are still in hospital following two highway accidents here during the weekend, when four cars were extensively damaged.

Lyle Hopps and Daniel Meyers are reported by RCMP to have been the drivers of vehicles which collided near Berry's Store Saturday night. Hopps was released from West Coast General Hospital after treatment for cuts and bruises, while a passenger in his car, Harry Williams, who suffered concussion, is still detained.

Vehicles driven by Dennis Hillman, Port Alberni, and Philip Waines, Alberni, collided on Sprout Lake Road Sunday evening. Hillman suffered a fractured knee and Miss Leslie Chisholm, a passenger in his car, received face lacerations. Both are in West Coast General Hospital and are reported in good condition.

$136 for Cancer Fund
JORDAN RIVER—Under the direction of Mrs. P. Giacomini, Mrs. G. Cuthbert and Mrs. E. Lines, $136 was collected here to aid the cancer fund. This amount will go to the unit "in memory of Evelyn Elliott."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to George Coates, aged eight, of Boise, Idaho, for his question:

What Are Clouds Made of?

You might think that clouds are made of solid material. As they drift along, they hide the sun and cast shadows on the ground. This one looks as though it were made of cotton, that one of ice cream. Those small curly clouds seem to be made of feathers and those long dark streamers look just like silken scarfs.

Actually, clouds are not made of cotton, feathers, silk or ice cream. They are not made of solid material at all. You know this if you have ever been inside a cloud. And, chances are, you have. For a mist of fog is made of cloud material. A fog is really a cloud taking a rest on the ground. So, when you walk through a fog you are walking right through the misty stuff that makes a cloud.

This material is very like the frothy white steam that floats away from a kettle of boiling water. It is made of little droplets of water, so small that they can float in the air. It may take 10,000 to 100,000 of these droplets to measure one inch. And in a cloud they are scattered so that there is plenty of space between them. If all the droplets in a fair sized white cotton type cloud were squeezed together, they would make about a tumbler full of water.

Some clouds fly high where it is cold. Instead of droplets of water, these clouds are made of fragments of ice. Such clouds are very white and usually small. They are the curly feather clouds we see floating aloft. These icy whisks may be flying six miles above the ground.

When it gets ready to rain, a cloud changes color. Its droplets are bunching together in raindrops. Countless droplets go to make one raindrop. The rain and the sun and each is big enough to cast a little shadow. This is what makes a raincloud look dark and gloomy.

The rain falls when the drops are too big to float in the air. The rain water falls on the earth and the plants, animals and our seives use up what we need. The rest sinks into the earth and runs into the rivers to the sea. Then out comes the sun with its warm, smiling face.

It dries and evaporates water from the seas, the lakes and the damp ground. This water turns into vapor which is an invisible gas. The vapor joins the other gases of the air and floats aloft. Up there it cools and turns into those tiny droplets of water. It becomes a cloud, floating and drifting in the wind.

Sooner or later, the cloud becomes heavy with raindrops. It sinks low and sheds its water back down again on the earth. Meantime the sun is drying up more water which becomes vapor. This vapor will form clouds which will also shed more rain.

Does the sun rotate on its axis?
Yes, the sun rotates on its axis just as the earth does. The giant ball is about a million times bulkier than the earth, so we would expect each rotation to take longer than 24 hours. And so it does. However, the sun is made of gases, and its surface rotates at different speeds.

At the equator, the sun rotates on an average of once in every 25 earth days. North and south of the equator, the rotating gases seem to lag behind. At 30 degrees north and south, each rotation takes about 26½ days. At 45 degrees north and south, we can give only a general idea of the sun's rotation, for each spot seems to take its own time. We can make only an overall estimate of the sun's rotation.

The sun's axis, of course, ends in a north and south pole. The north pole points out to a spot in the sky somewhere between the stars Vega and Polaris. This means that the sun's axis, like the earth's, is tilted.

IN SUPREME COURT
B.C.'s Remarriage Ban Challenged
OTTAWA (CP)—Counsel for British Columbia today asked the Supreme Court of Canada to uphold a two-month ban on remarriage following a divorce in the province.

The provincial ban prohibits either party in a divorce from remarrying within the 60-day period during which an appeal against the divorce decree can be launched.

The lower courts in B.C. have declared the prohibition invalid on the ground the provincial legislature may only pass laws governing the solemnization of marriage.

The appeal deals with the case of Mrs. Emmy Gudrun Denismore of Vancouver, who claims her marriage to Andrew William Denismore, performed in Edmonton, Jan. 19, 1949, is invalid. The marriage was performed within two months of her divorce in Cranbrook, B.C., from Albert Robert Douglas Hellens, Nov. 27, 1948.

Mrs. Denismore asked the B.C. Supreme Court to declare her marriage invalid but her case was dismissed, a decision that was upheld in a

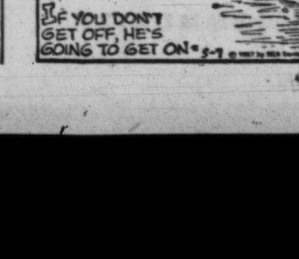

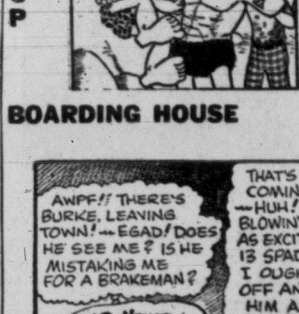

3-to-2 decision by the B.C. Court of Appeal.

FROM ENGLISH LAW
W. G. Burke-Robertson of Ottawa, counsel for the attorney-general of B.C., argued that the prohibition stems from the English Divorce Act of 1857 which was carried forward in B.C. through a provision of the constitution.

However, the prohibition was inactive, Mr. Burke-Robertson said, until 1937 when Parliament gave the B.C. Court of Appeal power to hear divorce appeals.

He argued that a law adopted by the provincial legislature in 1888 implied that the Supreme Court of B.C. could hear divorce appeals. The attorney-general of the province intervened in the case, originally started by Mrs. Denismore.
